C. OF C. DIRECTORS RESOLVE AGAINST ANNEXATION

Officials Take Stand and Also Give Chance to All of Members

At an executive session of the Chamber of Commerce last night the chamber's directorate came out and declared itself on the annexation question by voting to go on record as being opposed to the annexation of Glendale to Los Angeles.

The chamber meeting was presided over by Jesse E. Smith, president of the organization.

The vote taken by the chamber directors on annexation resulted after several organizations had made written requests that the Chamber of Commerce taken a stand one way or the other.

Pass Resolution

The resolution introduced and subsequently adopted, follows:

"Resolved, that the board of directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce go on record as being opposed to the annexation of Glendale to Los Angeles, individually, and that a referendum ballot be sent out immediately to the entire membership of the Chamber of Commerce requesting each member to vote his convictions on the matter."

The referendum ballots will be posted each member just as soon as they come off the press. The ballots are marked returnable not later than Saturday, December 16.

Accompanying the membership ballots will be a written statement from the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, reminding the members that the directorate of the chamber is purely democratic and seeks to abide by the wishes of the majority of the members.

Variety Show Will Entertain Students

The annual Variety Show is causing a fever of excitement this week at Glendale Union High school.

The premier performance of the vaudeville bill will be given tomorrow afternoon between 3:30 and 6 o'clock in a special matinee arranged for the benefit of grammar school students.

Most of the tickets for the performances Thursday and Friday night have already been sold, according to Miss Eleone Truitt, manager of the Variety Show. She stated this morning that the ticket sale has been unusually successful.

This season's variety show has unusual merit in the opinion of members of the faculty who have coached the various acts making up the bill. They assure all those, who attend, a good two and one-half hours' enjoyment.

School Board Gets Phone Switchboard

A telephone switchboard was installed this morning in the offices of the grammar school board of education, 109A South Brand boulevard.

All of the city schools will be connected via this switchboard. The Wilson Avenue Intermediate school will have two telephones.

The telephone number for all the schools is now Glendale 593, 594 or 595.

The new telephone switchboard equipment is worth about $1200. It was installed by N. O. Nair and C. A. Wilson, employes of the Southern California Telephone company.

High School Boards Hold Meet Tonight

The establishment of junior high schools will be discussed tonight at the high school by representatives of all the school boards in the Glendale Union High School district.

A 6 o'clock supper will be served to the delegates in the high school cafeteria.

This will be the second meeting called to discuss this subject. George U. Moyse, principal of the high school, feels that it is quite likely that the representatives of the different boards will present definite and official recommendations from their boards.

Dr. Marlence's Home Is Visited by Thief

A daylight burglar visited the home of Dr. C. L. Marlenee at 301 South Central avenue, yesterday morning and found to his liking a pocketbook containing about $10 and a white gold watch.

ROOM MOTHERS TO MEET

Mrs. Mae Rosenberg, president of the Pacific Avenue P.-T. A., and Mrs. Marguerite Bogen, financial chairman, will entertain the room mothers this afternoon at Mrs. Rosenberg's home, 462 Riverdale drive. Plans will be formulated for raising money to acquire curtains for the school court.

AUTO BUS SYSTEM TO LOS ANGELES IS PROPOSED

Glendale Company, Secures Indorsement of Council; to Seek Permits

Bus service between Glendale and Los Angeles is contemplated by Clyde D. Gulick of 1257 South Central avenue, manager of the newly organized Glendale Bus company.

"The Glendale Bus company is going to file applications for permits to run busses from Tujunga to Los Angeles and from Glendale to Los Angeles at once," remarked Mr. Gulick this morning. "It will install local service over any streets of this city upon which there is sufficient travel to warrant the purchase and installation of modern equipment."

Three routes to Los Angeles are proposed by the new company: One via Glendale avenue and Brand boulevard; the second via San Fernando road, and the third via Sagamore Canyon to the yellow car line.

City Council Favors

The City Council recently passed the following resolutions:

"RESOLVED, that we, the mayor and City Council of the city of Glendale, will allow and do hereby grant, permits to the Glendale Motor Bus company to operate over any of the streets of the city of Glendale, necessary to give service in connection with the through line the Glendale Motor Bus company now contemplates establishing between the city of Los Angeles and the city of Glendale.

"RESOLVED, that the mayor and City Council of the city of Glendale hereby endorse the contemplated application of the Glendale Motor Bus company to the board of supervisors of the county of Los Angeles, through the mayor and City Council of the city of Los Angeles, and the railroad commission of the state of California, for permits to operate busses over, through and upon such described routes as may appear to be necessary in order to complete local and through service between the cities of Glendale and the city of Los Angeles, of the state of California, and hereby agree to petition the said supervisors and said City Council and railroad commission aforementioned, that the said motor bus company be granted the permit so prayed for, and be it further

Goes On Record

"RESOLVED, that we wish to go on record, at this time, as heartily endorsing the establishment of the motor bus service between the two cities aforementioned, and do believe that public convenience, necessity and economic conditions demand that a service be established in order that the citizens of Los Angeles and Glendale may have a more rapid medium and economical means of transportation than is now offered."

Continue Search for Missing Aviators

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 12.—As the fifth day of their absence set in with no word of the whereabouts of Colonel Francis N. Marshall and Lieutenant Charles L. Webber, fear for the lives of the lost aviators was gripping the hearts of their brother flying officers and spurring the rescuers on to greater efforts.

"We can only hope," said Major Arnold, commandant of Rockwell field today, "that Colonel Marshall and Lieutenant Webber came down unharmed by a crash and that they have found food and shelter in some isolated ranch house or mining prospector's cabin.

"The search continues with a score of airplanes, many automobiles, mounted scouts and Indian runners afoot bending every effort to locate the men and the plane."

Major Arnold is convinced that the lost airplane came to grief far south of Gila Bend when it attempted to cut across the great uninhabited expanse of waste-land and make direct for Tucson after passing Yuma and Tacna.

CAN'T ACCOUNT FOR IT

R. E. Olin, whose office is located at 152 South Brand boulevard, is a public accountant, but he says he can't account for the loss from his home at 1312 North Columbus avenue of his six months'-old Airedale pup.

ARMENIAN POPULATION CUT TO 130,000, IS CLAIM

LAUSANNE, Dec. 12.—Massacre, enforced flight and famine have reduced the Armenian population from 3,000,000 to 130,000, Lord Curzon declared in the Near East conference.

M'ADOO'S SON IS UNDER ARREST FOR SPEEDING

SANTA ANA, Dec. 12.—Following in the footsteps of his father, William Gibbs McAdoo, Jr., the son of the former secretary of the treasury under former President Woodrow Wilson, today faces a charge of speeding. Young McAdoo is said to have passed an intersection going thirty-three miles an hour. His case comes up before Judge J. B. Cox tomorrow.

COLD WAVE TO CONTINUE, SAYS WEATHER BUREAU

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—No let-up in the cold wave which has swept nearly the entire country, was seen today by the weather bureau. During the next twenty-four hours, the bureau said, it will spread to the lower lake region, the Ohio valley, Tennessee, the east gulf states and the greater portion of the Atlantic states from northern Georgia and South Carolina northward. The lowest temperature today was thirty-four degrees below zero at Havre, Montana.

CREW OF BRITISH STEAMER REPORTED RESCUED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—The crew of the British tramp steamer Orteric which went on the rocks, seventy miles north of here last night, was transferred to the freighter Cotton Plant at 8:10 a. m. today, radio advices stated. The Cotton Plant responded to distress rockets, arriving at the scene of the wreck shortly after 7 o'clock. At that time the Orteric's hold was full of water and she was fast being beaten to pieces by the high waves. The transfer of the fifty-five members of the Orteric's crew was a dangerous piece of work and was only attempted as a last resort to save the lives of the crew.

WOMAN HELD AT CASPER IS NOT CLARA PHILLIPS

CASPER, Wyoming, Dec. 12.—"My name is Beatrice Craig and my home is in Kirby, Wyoming. I came down here to seek employment and for the police to connect me with that Phillips woman is an outrage," declared the "mystery" woman in the Casper jail here who was suspected of being Mrs. Clara Phillips, escaped Los Angeles "hammer murderess." Miss Craig looks much heavier and older than Mrs. Phillips and close examination revealed several facial characteristics not contained in the description of Mrs. Phillips. Later the woman was identified by police as Beatrice Craig and she was released.

ENTIRE NORTHWEST IS IN GRIP OF COLD WEATHER

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 12.—A forty-mile gale from the west, starting Monday afternoon and continuing until this morning, in sixteen hours brought Minnesota temperatures from thirty-four above to six below zero at 7 o'clock this morning. The whole northwest is in the grip of sub-zero weather with the wind expected to carry it eastward, according to the weather bureau. Montana, western Canada and North Dakota recorded from twenty-two to thirty-five below early this morning and Duluth shivered in a sixty-eight-mile wind and a furious blizzard that disrupted street car traffic and caused several freak accidents. Trains from the Pacific coast over the Milwaukee, Great Northern, and Northern Pacific due here Monday night arrived at 8 o'clock this morning. Fair and continued cold is the forecast for Minnesota, but from western North Dakota and Montana came reports of clearing skies and diminishing winds.

POINCARE'S PLANS THREATEN EUROPE, IS CLAIM

LONDON, Dec. 12.—The Daily Chronicle, personal organ of former Premier David Lloyd George, is commenting today on the collapse of the allied premiers' conference, declared that "Premier Poincare's French militarism is threatening Europe." Premier Poincare, Premier Mussolini of Italy and Premier Theunis of Belgium have departed to report to their respective cabinets, the French premier being the only one taking anything like victory with him. While Poincare did not succeed in having the allies adopt his program for seizure of the German Rhineland industries and the Ruhr coal fields, he was successful in preventing their complete rejection. They will be put forward again when the premiers re-assemble in Paris January 2. It was a significant coincidence that the British government should announce its intention of building two new dreadnaughts (permitted under the terms of the Washington conference agreement) just as the premiers' conference was tottering into collapse.

JOHN WANAMAKER, MERCHANT, AGE 85, IS DEAD

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12.—John Wanamaker, merchant prince and philanthropist, owner of the Wanamaker stores in New York, Philadelphia and Paris, died early today at his home here following an illness lasting more than two months. High hopes had been entertained for Mr. Wanamaker's recovery following a marked improvement in his condition recently. He was 85 years old and this is believed to have rendered recovery impossible. Death was due to a persistent heavy cold which defied all attempts of the three attending physicians to remedy it. About a week ago Mr. Wanamaker's condition became critical and it was reported that he had been greatly weakened by violent fits of coughing during the night. The following day, however, he rallied and steadily improved until the sudden relapse early today which ended his life. He was taken ill originally at his home in the Chelton Hills, "Lindenhurst." He is survived by his son, Rodman Wanamaker, member of the Wanamaker firm, and special deputy police commissioner of New York City; Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton, vice president of the Pennsylvania Republican state committee and wife of public director of welfare of Philadelphia; and Mrs. Norman MacLeod. He died at 8 a. m., according to his office. The merchant prince was born on July 11, 1838, and was educated in the public schools, later continuing with his studies until he received the degree from Howard university, Ursinus college and University of Pennsylvania. He started to work at a very early age, running errands for a bookstore when he was 14. He turned to the clothing business first as a retail salesman for a clothing concern where he gathered that insight into the needs of patrons that later made him one of the shrewdest observers of customers' demands in the country. In 1861 in joint partnership with Nathan Brown he established the clothing house of Wanamaker and Brown. As his business increased he branched out and established a department store in Philadelphia and another in New York. The New York store he bought outright from A. T. Stewart, former owner.

SEARCHING FOR BANK BANDITS AND KIDNAPERS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—A rigid search of southern California was being made today by police and deputy sheriffs for the four bandits who yesterday afternoon held up the Piru branch of the Fillmore State bank at Piru and escaped with $6000 and brought C. E. Spencer, the bank manager and his 5-

Rhoades and Sanders Selected Secretaries

James M. Rhoades and E. F. Sanders, secretary and assistant secretary, respectively, of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, were elected at the executive meeting of the directors of the chamber last night to continue in their official offices for another year.

Messrs. Rhoades and Sanders' terms of office will expire on January 1, 1923. Their new term will run from that date to January 1, 1924.

Mr. Rhoades stated this morning that both he and his associate, Mr. Sanders, were retained in office under their old working agreement.

Mrs. Warren Roberts Is Chapter Hostess

Mrs. Warren Roberts of 617 East Elk avenue is to be hostess tomorrow, Wednesday, at an all day meeting of Chapter L, P. E. O.

The women are to meet at 1$:30 o'clock in the morning and have been asked to bring their contributions of soap for the True Love home, maintained by the Salvation Army in Los Angeles.

After luncheon Mrs. Genevieve Goss will direct a study hour in United States history and an entertainment program will be presented by Miss Isabel Isgrigg.

Glendale Rainfall Record 3.31 Inches

Glendale's rainfall to date this year is considerably higher than for the corresponding period of 1921, according to a statement made this morning by Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, 333 West Broadway. The rainfall this year, she said, registers three inches and thirty-one hundredths.

Last year to date it registered ninety-nine hundredths of an inch.

ARTS AND CRAFTS

Members of the Arts and Crafts Section 2 of the Tuesday Afternoon club, are to meet Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. T. Remmen at 1018 North Louise street. They are to take up the decoration of baskets.

CREDIT MEN SEEK IMPROVEMENT IN POSTAL PICKUP

Committee to Make Inquiry in Hope of Securing Speedier Service

A motion calling for a thorough investigation to determine whether the postal pickup and delivery service in Glendale cannot be speeded up, was one of several important resolutions adopted yesterday at the regular weekly meeting of the Glendale Merchants' Credit Association.

The credit men met and lunched in the Chamber of Commerce's assembly room. Judge Owen C. Emery, president of the association, presided. He introduced as guests L. E. Myers, of Sierra Madre; and Will Jay Higgins, of the Glendale Creamery Company.

The resolution regarding the mail service was introduced by A. T. Cowan, publisher and proprietor of The Glendale Evening News. Mr. Cowan explained in detail why the local delivery service is impaired because there is no daily collection of mail in the morning from mail boxes in the residential sections of the city.

Makes Delivery Late.

He said that letters and other parcels of mail placed in residential mail boxes after 6 p. m., are not picked up until late the following forenoon. As a consequence, he stated that mail so handled reaches the addressee many hours late.

The membership was of one mind in seeing the advantages that could be wrought by an early morning delivery. As a consequence, Mr. Cowan was appointed chairman of a committee of three to confer with the proper authorities on this score. The other two on the committee are Archie Parker and Dr. R. V. Hogue. They are to report on the matter at the meeting next Monday.

A motion was made by Harry A. Kent, credit man of Pendroy's, and adopted, which promises to exclude bad check artists from this city. Briefly, checks sent to the banks are cleared at 9 a. m., each day. Any checks deposited after that hour hold over until the next day.

Committee Inquiry

Mr. Kent, in his motion, stated that swindlers could pass a check on a merchant and the latter couldn't know if the check was good or bad until the next morning. He moved that if the hour of clearing checks could be extended a few hours, merchants could better protect themselves. A committee was appointed to make an investigation.

The name of only one new member was read at the meeting yesterday. His name is John Herbert Smith. Seymour G. Smith, the proud father, announced that the new member was born Sunday night. Both mother and baby are reported doing nicely at the family residence, 416 West Wilson.

Clinton C. Parsons Now Local Resident

Clinton C. Parsons, horticulturist and landscape gardener, is one of the newest Glendale residents. Mr. Parsons has just come from Hollywood and will make his home at 360 Kenneth road.

While in Hollywood he did the landscaping on several big estates and he is now working on ground planning for some of Glendale's new homes.

Before coming to California Mr. Parsons was first assistant horticulturist in Central Park, New York, and in addition to this work he laid out several big estates on the Hudson and in the Berkshires in Massachusetts.

Intermediate School to Offer Program

The things that "Dad" likes are going to be given preference Friday night on the entertainment program at the Parent Teachers' Association meeting at the Glendale Avenue Intermediate school. All parents of the school have been urged to attend.

The school building is to be open at 7:30 o'clock so that parents and teachers will have a half hour for informal sociability before the program at 8 o'clock. The teachers are to be in their various class rooms and the building will be lighted throughout and visitors are to visit any department they wish.

Suburban Questions Are Luncheon Topic

Dr. Jessie A. Russell was the guest yesterday at a luncheon of the inter-city and suburban committee of the Los Angeles City club. Questions affecting cities throughout the county and their relation to Los Angeles were discussed.

All members of the committee were present, with William Taylor, director of national and international expositions, and Dr. Russell as special guests.

SELECT GLENDALE AS FIRST PERMANENT MUNICIPAL AERO LANDING FIELD IN SOUTHLAND

City Council Buys Tract for Proposed Air Station; Commercial, Advertising and Industrial Asset of Great Value

GLENDALE, the fastest growing city in America, has been selected as the base for the first permanent municipal aero landing field in southern California. This means that Glendale will be the port of entry and dispatch for aeroplanes that ply to and from this section of the state.

Briefly, the venture, when complete and operative, will represent an investment of several hundred thousand dollars. Its scope thereafter from a commercial, advertising and industrial standpoint will be unlimited, it is declared.

This announcement, which has been taking root for the past month, was issued today by Roy L. Kent and associates through the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. Those who assisted Mr. Kent in the consummation of the project were William Reeves, city manager; W. E. Hewitt and Dr. T. C. Young.

According to the latter, they succeeded in winning the officials of Glendale over to their argument that the future has great possibilities in store for the air craft industry, and, as a consequence, the city purchased a beautiful tract of thirty-three acres on the San Fernando boulevard for the proposed air station.

Desirable Field

The foregoing property adjoins the Southern Pacific railway in the western addition of the city. It is said by flying authorities to be the most desirable field for an air port in this section of the state. Then, too, the site is well adapted for industrial purposes. Air craft manufacturers and other accompanying industries will all have the shipping facilities afforded by the Southern Pacific's spur tracks.

In area, the Glendale air port comprises forty-seven acres, with a 500-foot landing field 1700 feet in length running northeast and southeast. Because of its advantageous location, the field has been approved by the Aero club and scores of private and commercial air men.

Quick Transportation

By March 1 Mr. Kent and associates announce, those wishing quick transportation will have the privilege of making reservations on an airship with all the comforts of home. The public will be enabled to embark on a de luxe ship at the Glendale air port at a given time, they promise, with the stipulation that they will be landed in San Francisco five hours later.

Several aerial passenger lines have already secured options on hangars at the new Glendale port. It is understood that they will establish their flying apparatus at the field within the next two months. All of the companies using the new field will advertise Glendale as its Los Angeles terminus.

Two Service Lines

With the present transportation facilities afforded by Glendale, it is the contention of those behind the project that no more than twenty minutes can elapse before a passenger can be landed in Los Angeles after docking at the local air port. One may go into the city either by bus or by the Pacific Electric red cars. The former will run directly from the field and the latter run within a block of the port.

It is predicted that the new Glendale field will attract a large majority of fliers, including those who are in the game for mere sport, and those interested commercially. Those interested in the project are bent on making it possible for fliers to lease hangar space by the year for a very nominal rental.

Aerial Mail Route

Commenting on the enterprise this morning, Mr. Kent said:

"The action of the City Council of Glendale in taking this forward

START PLANS ON GLENDALE FLOAT

C. of C. Directors Select Three on Committee to Arrange Entry

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their meeting last night appointed a committee of three to begin plans for the proposed float that Glendale will send to Pasadena for the Rose Tournament on New Years' Day.

Those appointed include J. G. Huntley, Peter Ferry and L. W. Chobe. They are slated to cooperate with other civic organizations in obtaining the funds necessary to design and equip the float.

A communication received by the chamber from the Elks lodge, and which was read at the meeting, reported that the latter organization had already collected its quota of $50.

Other lodges and organizations are expected to take similar steps during the next week or ten days.

Twelve New Members

James Rhoades, secretary of the chamber, reported that twelve new members had enrolled in the organization since the last meeting. They were:

Globe Builders Supply company, 214 W. Broadway; South Glendale Variety Store, 1413 S. Fernando Road; Pacific House Moving company, 1338 W. Girard St., Los Angeles; Jot C. Wood, 630 E. Lomita; Fred B. Walton, 670 W. Lexington drive; Mrs. Frances A. Grant, 622 S. Louise; Dolores Toilet Articles, 121 S. Central avenue; Dr. Orrie E. Ghrist, 134 S. Adams street; L. A. Stacy, 225 E. Broadway; The Hub Pharmacy, 259 S. Glendale avenue; Magnolia Garage, 914 S. San Fernando Road; and the Glendale Beauty Shoppe, 103-A N. Brand.

Local Doctors Will Gather at Banquet

Glendale physicians and surgeons are to be guests Thursday night at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, where a banquet will be served at 7 o'clock, followed by a program with Dr. Zeiler, a specialist of Los Angeles, as speaker.

Invitations have been sent to all Glendale physicians and surgeons but the hospital officials announce that, owing to recent arrivals and changes in offices and residences, some invitations are being held up. They therefore state that any physician or surgeon who has not received an invitation will assist with perfecting the plans for the affair by calling the Glendale Physicians' and Surgeons' club, Glendale 43.

BOY SCOUTS TO STAGE CONTEST

Industrial and Vocational Competition Will Start, Is Announced

The Boy Scouts of California will compete in the eighth annual public school industrial and vocational contest in connection with the California State Fair, according to word just received from E. Franklin, director in charge.

For the past eight years this contest has been staged annually under the direction of the State Agricultural Society and it is through the special efforts of Thomas L. Hosmer, scout executive at Sacramento, that the Boy Scout division was made possible.

The average prize is $5 for first place, $3 for second place and $2 for third place. A sweepstake for the council making best, largest and most varied exhibit will be held in which the cash prizes will consist of first place $25, second place $15 and third place $10.

What They Will Make

Following are the things the Scouts will make to enter into the competition of the contest: Bridge models, tower models, knot boards, bird houses, bow and arrows, drawings and paintings, materials submitted for botany, blacksmithing, metal, carpentry, leather, basketry, pottery, cement, bookbinding, wood carving, machinery, mining, photographs, sculpture, signaling, stalking, taxidermy, maps, and knife work.

It is thought that the 1923 Older Scouts Conference will again be held at Sacramento and if this proves to be correct the special scouts selected to represent the Verdugo Hills District Council will take along with them the exhibits for the contest entered by the local scouts.

Early P. E. Trains Tied Up by Truck

Glendalians who are accustomed to traveling to Los Angeles between the hours of 6 and 8 o'clock each morning via the Pacific Electric had long, exasperating waits this morning, occasioned by a big truck tying up traffic in Los Angeles.

A late report from the city stated that the big truck got stuck on Sixth street between Flower and Figueroa streets by street improvements and held up Glendale-Los Angeles Pacific Electric cars from 6 till 7 o'clock. This hold-up of course affected the regular schedule of the other early morning cars.

SCHOOL QUESTIONS AGAIN UP FOR CONSIDERATION

Delegates From Eagle Rock Will Attend Tonight at Glendale High

Superintendent E. E. Harwood, of the Eagle Rock Central school, and W. H. Dorrance, member of the board of education, are to attend an adjourned meeting of the superintendents and trustees of the territory embraced in Eagle Rock, Glendale, La Crescenta and Tujunga, at Glendale tonight.

The meeting is a continuation of the one held at Glendale December 5, and is called to further discuss the matter of establishing junior high schools in the various sections interested. The meeting will be called to order in the domestic science room of the Glendale Union High school immediately after a dinner furnished by the domestic science class.

For Eagle Rock

Both Mr. Dorrance and Superintendent Harwood erpressed themselves at the former meeting as being in favor of keeping the junior high for Eagle Rock students in Eagle Rock. Both asserted they believed they were acting in accordance with the wishes of the Eagle Rock school patrons.

Representatives from other districts also had their views with the result that no definite plan was outlined. It is expected that the delegates will be able to formulate a plan of some kind at the meeting tonight that will make it possible to establish junior high schools in advantageous locations.

FIND STOLEN BICYCLE

An abandoned bicycle was found yesterday morning at 460 West Los Feliz road in the yard of the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber company. The police department was notified and the bicycle was turned over to Orvy Hatcher of 1106 East Colorado street from whom it was stolen Thursday evening at the High school grounds.

CITY COUNCIL OF EAGLE ROCK HAS WEEKLY MEET

Considerable Business Is Transacted; Park Site Offer Rejected

City Council of Eagle Rock met in regular weekly session Monday night and after disposing of numerous knotty problems, adjourned in record time. All members were present with Mayor Osborn presiding.

City Attorney Robert L. McNitt was requested by the trustees to amend Ordinance 194 to change lots 7, 24 and 30 into C zone.

A request by R. T. Sharp that lot 11 in the Oakmont tract be changed to B zone was granted. The lot had been for residence purposes.

W. O. Feaster, owner of the building formerly used as a city hall, asked that the city move the vault and otherwise place the premises in the same condition that it was in prior to its use as a city hall. Upon recommendation of City Attorney McNitt, the Council turned the proposition down.

City Engineer Reports

City Engineer T. J. Jordan made a written report upon the proposition of Eagle Rock taking over the proposed park site in the Sagamore Park tract, under conditions proposed by the Wesley Roberts Realty company. After due consideration, the matter was rejected under the present plan.

Some of the conditions required of the city would be a 2400-foot pipe line from the reservoir; a road on both sides of the proposed park, a length of 2400 feet twelve and one-half feet wide and to be surfaced with decomposed granite, and the installation of gas and electricity.

The city engineer estimated the cost of the proposed roads at from $7000 to $9000. Officials at the city hall figured that the entire cost to the city would run close to $20,000. This with the fact that the company required the work to be rushed discouraged the trustees from taking favorable action.

Will Make Improvements

A request signed by several interested property owners asking that the city establish grades and set grade stakes for the opening and improvement of College View avenue between Park and Sycamore avenues was granted. The property owners asked to be allowed to let the work by private contract. It is proposed to lay walks and curbing.

Grounded Ship Is Breaking on Rocks

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—The steamer El Segundo early today reached the steamer Orteric which went aground at Fish Rock late last night. The Orteric is reported warping badly with water in No. 1 and No. 6 holds.

The El Segundo wirelessed she would stand by until daylight before attempting to rescue the crew of fifty-five on board the Orteric. The Orteric radio was still working and reported the vessel was pounding badly with huge seas washing over her deck.

The point at which the vessel went ashore is approximately ten miles south of Point Arena and seventy miles north of San Francisco. It is one of the most dangerous stretches of the Mendocino coast.

G. H. McLean Trial Before Judge Lowe

G. H. McLean, proprietor of the Triangle Garage at 1526 South San Fernando road, is on trial today in the police court of Judge F. H. Lowe charged with the misdemeanor of "having exhibited a deadly weapon in a rude manner." The warrant causing his arrest was sworn to by E. P. Wurtz, a city patrolman. The alleged incident occurred on November 12 while Mr. Wurtz was making his rounds. Since that time Mr. McLean has been out on bail.

Miss Bernice Seece Held Lucky Number

Another Eagle Rock young lady was made happy Monday when Miss Bernice Seece of 247 South Townsend avenue, put in an appearance with lucky number 262, which drew the beautiful doll raffled by the P.-T. A. at the Central school last Friday evening. Miss Bernice failed to attend the raffle, but she was no less pleased when told that she held the winning number.

XMAS BAZAAR AT EAGLE ROCK WILL OPEN SATURDAY

Women of Congregational Church Will Conduct Charity Affair

The Ladies' Aid of the Congregational church in Eagle Rock will hold a Christmas bazaar at the Women's club house next Saturday, December 16. The entire evening will be devoted to entertaining friends and disposing of the many beautiful and useful articles displayed in the booths. As the proceeds of this bazaar are to be used for a most worthy cause, the ladies naturally expect that their friends will turn out in full force.

Not the least of the attractions will be a delicious home cooked dinner served under the direction of Mrs. C. A. Tinkham, which is a guaranty of itself of a wonderfully prepared meal. Six o'clock is the time and 65 cents the price. Don't fail to connect with this department.

Japanese Work of Art

In the Antique department, which will be under the supervision of Mrs. Ferry will be found a hand carved Japanese figure said to be over 500 years old. It is placed on display by Mrs. Jack Reynolds and was brought from Japan by the owner some years ago. It is a future of a mother and her child and is said to be a wonderful work of art. The figure is about four inches in height and is yellow with age. Mrs. Reynolds spent her childhood days in China and acquired this valuable possession in one of her trips to Japan.

Booths of All Kinds

There will be booths of all kinds with a variety of beautiful creations, such as hand painted baskets, fancy work, bags and aprons, cakes, handkerchiefs, home made candies, rugs, quilts and spreads; even the babies will not be overlooked.

Those in charge of the various exhibitions follow:

Antiques — Mrs. Essie Koen; fancy work, Mrs. Alice Winters; bags, Mrs. M. C. Noobaar; aprons, Mrs. A. B. Westmoreland and Mrs. Beckett; cakes, Mrs. M. T. Lee and Mrs. R. W. Stephens; handkerchiefs, Mrs. G. I. Hawkins; home made candy, Mrs. Grace L. Sherwood and Mrs. A. W. Lawrence; white elephant, Mrs. Arthur Berger and Mrs. W. W. Francisco; home cooked food, Mrs. Evans; baby booth, Mrs. Mary Gibson; fish pond, Miss Helen Pratt; rugs, quilts and spreads, Mrs. A. C. Fiske.

Eagle Rock Locals

The Chiro Fraternity are making arrangements for a dance to be given at the Eagle Rock lodge December 30.

Mrs. Helen Briston, nee Miller, grade teacher in the Central school, was forced to remain at her home Monday because of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bishop are recent arrivals in Eagle Rock from Big Sandy, Montana, and are located at 231 Ellis avenue for the winter.

Mrs. B. T. Garrett and daughters, Misses Margaret, Lois and Shirley, were dinner guests of senior officers of the U. S. S. Oklahoma last Sunday.

Miss Helen Broakee, one of the teachers in the grades in the Eagle Rock schools, is back at her desk after a week's vacation caused by a slight illness.

The Engineers' club of the Occidental college is giving a dinner tonight at the Eagle Rock lodge, the professors of the engineers' course being the guests.

Mrs. C. E. Trentiss, of Dayton, Ohio, mother of Mrs. W. D. Holland, arrived in Eagle Rock Saturday and is a guest at the home of her daughter on South Ellis avenue.

W. M. Duncan, recently of 108 East Colorado boulevard, Eagle Rock, is looking for a location to start a barber shop. Mr. Duncan has been a resident of the city for some time and only recently decided to make a start for himself.

A. J. Auglinbaugh was in the city Monday endeavoring to interest members of the chamber of commerce in a membership campaign—that being his particular line of business. Mr. Aulinbaugh stated he had recently put on a campaign at Pasadena and was scheduled to start soon in San Diego.

Madison Compton, manual training instructor at Central school, Eagle Rock, intimates he has the snappiest "touch" foot ball team in this vicinity. Since the boys have decided that "Soccer" is a little too heavy, they are going in strong for the lighter game, with excellent results, says Mr. Compton.

De Valera Ordered Executed on Sight

DUBLIN, Dec. 12.—Irish Free State military officials have ordered Eamonn de Valera, chief leader of the republican cause, shot on sight, it was reported throughout Dublin this afternoon. The authorities refused to confirm or deny the report. De Valera is said to be hiding in or near Dublin. He and Liam Lynch are the last of the powerful republican leaders at large.

FRANC EXPECTED TO HOLD STEADY

No Such Drop As In Mark Looked For by Noted New York Banker

LONDON—"I am convinced there will not be a landslide of the franc following that of the mark," says Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank of New York.

"In the first place, I have the conviction that the French leaders are firm and sincere in their determination not to increase the medium of circulation. I was not encouraged by the French situation before going to France this time, and, while at present there is nothing to throw one's hat in the air about, I am convinced of the absolute determination on the part of the French not to do anything which will lessen the value of the currency. The present fall of the franc is partly a seasonal fluctuation; a similar decline occurred a year ago, only three weeks later.

Faith in Government

Public confidence in France remains strong, and permits the government to borrow money internally that is needed until the French budget balances. While issuing bonds in no way solves France's problem, it is of vital importance that this confidence exists. For if, as and when — and inevitably there must come a 'when'—the French government tells the people the whole truth about their financial position it means, I am sure, that the great nation, with its superb patriotism and understanding of investment and of the necessity of maintenance of credit, will rise to meet the need of greater taxation.

"French credit lost ground in America, in part, through fear of an Anglo-French rupture. But, while I was in France, not a single banker or high governmental official conceded the possibility of such a break, and I became convinced the ruling minds of France would not permit French policy to go to such a point.

"I made a careful estimate of the amount of foreign borrowing France will have to do next year to balance her exchange. It is obvious she must do some since the amount being paid out is more than being received. But the sum proved amazingly low, and is a figure which, I think, will be obtainable without difficulty."

Mr. Mitchell said he saw little point in discussing Germany's demand for a loan to stablize the mark.

"It is useless," he said, "to discuss parts of the solution separately. It is my view Germany can be set to rights under conditions under which stabilization of the currency is the first. But this is not possible without the other two. Reparations must be reduced to a figure which the Germans themselves believe they can meet, and which, to some extent, satisfies the Allies. Lastly, the Germans must have political stability so that one can be sure of their carrying out their agreements."

HEARING CAUSES ROW

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—In a flurry of charges and counter-charges, the impeachment proceedings against Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty got under way today before the house judiciary committee with organized labor pressing the initial attack.

The hearing developed into a "row" almost from the start between Jackson Ralston, chief counsel for the American Federation of Labor and various members of the committee.

Corn Is Now Main U. S. Food Supply

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Corn has supplanted wheat as the principal food supply of the United States, according to a comprehensive review just completed by the department of agriculture.

The vital importance of the corn crop and its relation to American prosperity has been made the subject of an intensive study by the department's experts, and the findings put in the 1921 Yearbook, just published, which, in a graphic survey, presents the story of corn in all details.

Corn is produced by nearly 5,000,000 of the approximately 6,500,000 farms in the United States. Nearly 100,000,000 acres of farm land is devoted to the production of this single crop, which, in recent years, has reached more than 3,000,000,000 bushels. The value of the crop during the war reached more than $3,000,000,000, or one-eighth of the present national debt. The 1920 crop, the largest ever produced, had a value of $2,150,000,000; the 1921 crop, $1,303,000,000.

Forty per cent of the total American corp crop is fed to swine on farms, 20 per cent is fed to horses and mules on farms, and 15 per cent to cattle on farms. Only 10 per cent is used through the consumption of meat and meat products.

The department's figures and charts on corn production show that the United States produces approximately three-fourths of the corn crop of the world. Less than half of the corn land in the corn belt is allotted to corn in any given season, and more than 50 per cent of the crop land is occupied by small grains and hay.

Vacant Houses in Eagle Rock Scarce

Vacant houses are at a premium in Eagle Rock at the present time, says T. W. White, of the White & Clark realty company, of 546 E. Colorado boulevard. This means, continued Mr. White, that there are neither houses to be rented in any great number, and not many completed and for sale that have not been purchased. While many residences are being completed, it is not an unusual thing to find that a contract of sale has already been made out for some one not now a resident of the city.

Harry MacBain Has Trees for Christmas

The scent of Oregon pines is in the air over at Harry G. MacBain's grocery store at 636 East Broadway, where a big shipment of Christmas trees is on display.

"I've been in business in Glendale twelve years," says Mr. MacBain, "and I never experienced such a busy Christmas season. It is proof of Glendale's progressiveness and my store is well stocked to furnish all the things for the Christmas dinners for a goodly number of the 32,000 residents of 'The fastest growing city in the United States'."

British Warships to Cost $56,000,000

LONDON, Dec. 12.—The two new capital warships which Great Britain will lay down at once, under the terms of the Washington treaty, will cost approximately $28,000,000, each and will give employment to forty thousand men, the admiralty announced today.

BRITISH DIVORCE LAWS ARE RAPPED

People Can't Live With Mates Nor Remarry, Complains Sir Arthur

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service.

LONDON—Unhappy marriages are poisoning the life stream in England, and all because of antiquated divorce laws, according to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

"Several hundred thousand people are now wandering about England, helpless victims of our cruel and antiquated divorce laws," Sir Arthur declared. "They cannot live with their legal spouses yet they are not free to marry. It stands to reason they will form illegal unions.

"Such people are as dangerous to the body politic as microbes in the blood, poisoning the life-stream of the nation.

"We have half a million graves in Flanders," said the author, his deep voice tingling with quaverings. "We want half a million cradles in England.

"But here are hundreds of thousands of people practically sterilized by our divorce laws. They cannot settle down and rear families, because the law forbids them to marry.

Blames Churches

"And this sin"—Sir Arthur leaned forward and spoke earnestly—"is the fault of the church!

"The bishops of England, good people, no doubt, but slaves to old texts which do not in the least correspond to modern conditions, are in that way the greatest enemies to human progress and happiness!

Antiquated Laws

"Surely it is obvious that a law that keeps a man or woman tied for life to a dipsomaniac, a life convict, an insane person, or one by whom they have been deserted, is cruel.

"We are the laggards of the world in this matter, just as we were the last to reform our abominable criminal code!"

Sir Arthur is a leader in the movement for divorce law reforms and displayed heaps of letters upon his study table from persons who bewailed the fact that they were enmeshed in unhappy marriages, but were unable to secure relief because of the English divorce laws, which permit divorce for men only on proof of misconduct by their wives and for women only upon proof of misconduct, cruelty or desertion.

War Debt Discussed by Premier B. Law

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Premier A. Bonar Law informed the house of commons this afternoon that he told the allied premiers' conference Great Britain would reduce her debt claims if the allies "failed to receive full reparations from Germany."

This was the first official announcement that Britain has modified the debt policy established by the Balfour note.

BOND ELECTION IS BEING HELD IN EAGLE ROCK

Every Indication Citizens Are Greatly Interested in Three Measures

Citizens of Eagle Rock are out in goodly numbers today voting upon the proposition of bonding the city in the sum of $125,000. The amount is divided into three sections. The first calls for an issue of $60,000 for additions and betterments to the water works system; the second for $40,000 for fire protection and the third for $25,000 for the street lighting system.

Of the $60,000 asked for the water system the estimate is based on the following amounts: Two wells at an estimated cost of $13,400; 300,000 gallon steel reservoir, $5500; installation of 12-inch main on Colorado boulevard, $35,275; extension 6-inch main on Douglas avenue, $900; acquisition of real estate for above purpose, $3000; installation of 6-inch main in alley west of Central, $650; removal of 6-inch pipe on Colorado for use on Douglas avenue extension, $1275.

Predict Heavy Vote

Members of the Board of Trustees have set forth the necessity for the bonds carrying, in a recent communication to the public. In the opinion of members of the board, the question of whether or not Eagle Rock should be annexed to Los Angeles, should not be taken into consideration, as, in their opinion, the district would have to bear the burden of expense in any event.

Every indication points to a heavy vote.

Glendale Hi-Y Clubs Hold Big Meeting

At a peppy meeting held last night of all the Hi-Y clubs of Glendale in the Methodist church much important business was transacted, the most important of which was the election of officers for the coming year.

Paul Edmonds was unanimously chosen president. Teed Haig was elected vice-president, and Harold Heacoek will be secretary-treasurer.

The matter of the annual College Y Convention was brought up by Howard L. Butterfield, stating that representatives from several high schools had been invited, and it was decided to send two delegates. The convention is held in Asilomar, and lasts a week, beginning the day following Christmas. The expenses of the two delegates are to be about sixty dollars, and this was subscribed at the meeting. The delegates chosen were Paul Edmonds and Fred Peck.

Following the business meeting, an exhibition of sleight-of-hand tricks was put on by Fred Roberts, local entertainer.

Supreme Court Judge Retired by Harding

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—President Harding has signed the bill permitting the retirement on account of ill health of Mahlon R. Pitney, associate justice of the United States supereme court, it was announced at the White House today.

Justice Pitney's retirement, expected shortly, will create another vacancy on the supreme bench, making the fourth that has occurred during President Harding's administration.

War Mothers Hold Meeting Tomorrow

The regular bi-monthly business meeting of the local chapter of War Mothers of America will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the American Legion hall, 610 East Broadway. A record attendance is expected, as the main business to be transacted will be the annual election of officers.

HIGH SCHOOL TO AID XMAS TREE

Music Section to Assist Community Celebration Christmas Night

The music section of the Glendale Union high school is making extensive preparations for the big community Christmas tree celebration, which is the first feature of the varied Community Service program, which will be held on the high school lawn on Christmas night. Mrs. Gibson, director of music, in a statement this morning said that the high school orchestra will play the Largo by Handel together with Nazareth by Gounod. It will also play the accompaniment for the Christmas hymns which everybody will join in singing. A group of old traditional melodies will be sung by the Girls' Glee Club and the Boys' Glee Club will sing "The Three Kings of the Orient."

"A Carol a day drives worry away." Today's carol is:

"Oh Come All Ye Faithful"
Adeste Fideles

Oh come, all ye faithful, joyful and triumphant;
Oh come ye, oh come ye to Bethlehem;
Come and behold Him born the King of angels.

After Each Verse—

Oh come, let us adore Him,
Oh come, let us adore Him,
Oh come, let us adore Him,
Christ the Lord. Amen.

Sing, choirs of angels, sing in exultation,
Sing all ye citizens of heav'n above;
Glory to God in the highest;

Yea, Lord, we greet Thee, born this happy morning;
Jesus, to Thee be glory giv'n;
Word of the Father, now in flesh appearing.

"Oh Come All Ye Faithful"

It is not surprising that this sturdy, whole-hearted tune (sung with its alternative text, "How Firm a Foundation") was the favorite hymn of that full-blooded American, Theodore Roosevelt. His preference has been shared by hundreds of thousands of men, women and children throughout the world.

The text of "Oh Come All Ye Faithful" is translated from a Latin hymn of the seventeenth or eighteenth century. The original words, beginning Adeste Fideles, are still frequently used. The translation which we sing was made in England by the Rev. Frederick Oakley about 1850.

The source of the music is not definitely known. Various reasons are given for its name—the Portuguese Hymn. Some investigators say it was written by a Portuguese chapel master named Marcus Portugal; others that it was first sung in the Portuguese Chapel in London, but was written by an English organist named John Reading.

But, whether this joyful manly hymn be the work of this or that man, or like a folk song, the combined product of several men, it is one of the hymns of the ages which apparently is to live for centuries. When we sing it we are keeping alive the spirit and expression which stirred many happy folks who have gone before and countless numbers which will follow after us.

Bogus Agencies Are Misleading Public

The United States Civil Service Commission, in a bulletin received today by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, calls the attention of the public to numerous advertising circulars now being broadcasted by unscrupulous persons.

In these circulars and advertisements, information is given that a railway postal clerk examination is soon to be held. The commission states that no such examination has been announced and that it is not known at this time when it will be necessary to hold an examination of the kind. When one is to be held it will be duly announced.

Many of these so-called civil service schools, said the commission, recruit a considerable part of their clientele among young people of limited education in rural communities, who fall easy victims to alluring statements regarding railway postal clerk and other positions in the government service and extravagant claims as to the advantages of training with the so-called schools.

The commission points out that definite and authentic information regarding pending examinations may always be obtained from any of its local representatives or by writing direct to the office of the commission at Washington, D. C. The commission has a representative at the postoffice or custom house in each of approximately 3500 cities throughout the country.

Central P.-T. A. to Meet Next Thursday

What promises to be an unusually interesting meeting of the Central avenue Parent-Teachers' Association is scheduled for Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium, according to the announcement of Mrs. D. F. Reichard, president.

There will be a meeting of the board, at 2 o'clock sharp, at which routine business will be handled. Then, at 3:15, will come the open session, for which a splendid program has been arranged.

Mr. Swartz, the prominent sculptor, of La Canada park, will give a talk on some intimate angle of his profession. He will be followed by his wife, noted as a critic, who will speak about contemporary artists and their work. Mrs. J. H. Burris will render one or two vocal selections.

Mrs. L. H. Thompson, hospitality chairman, will then superintend the serving of tea and wafers, after which a social half-hour will be enjoyed.

As Mr. and Mrs. Swartz are widely known and have undisputed reputations in their fields of art and criticism, no member of the Central avenue P. T. A. can afford to be absent. Come and bring your friends, it is urged.

Douglas Fairbanks in Screen Triumph

Douglas Fairbanks in "Robin Hood," which is drawing such large audiences to the beautiful and luxurious Grauman Hollywood Egyptian theatre is a triumph of the screen, the masterpiece of the dynamic star whose luster seems to brighten with his every succeeding film and the theatre combined with the master presentation by Sid Grauman is beyond expression of praise.

Going back to the ancient days of heraldry when knights went forth to do battle for "Ladyes Faire," and using the legends of the most romantically alluring figure who ever sped a shaft in the greenwood as a basis, "Doug" has built a story that fires the imagination and has produced a motion picture that is magnificent.

This film is the most pretentious and ambitious picture that Fairbanks has ever attempted, but it is far more than simply pretentious. It is thrilling in the extreme, spectacular, beautiful, dramatically compelling, whimsical, humorous, Douglas Fairbanks at his daring, dashing best.

He has caught as if by magic the spirit of the middle age chivalry and the rollicking freedom of the greenwood and has transferred it to the screen to kindle the jaded souls of the twentieth century, with an artistry that sweeps the spectator along villainy, frolic and revenge, living the deeds that unfold on the screen.

The star supporting cast is of the finest. Outstanding are Sam de Grass, as the evil Prince John, a splendid characterization; the powerful Wallace Beery, as King Richard; blondly beautiful Enid Bennett, as Lady Marian, Paul Dickey as Alan-a-Dale.

John Herbert Smith New Resident Here

Grandfathers J. Herbert Smith and John G. Huntley are all excited these days. Politics, business, the weather and other topics of the day and night are relegated to second place. The usurper of premiere honors is tiny John Herbert, two day old son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour G. Smith, birth of whom is announced elsewhere in this issue.

Before going any farther it should be explained that the "John" in that young man's name is Grandfather Huntley's property and the "Herbert" that of Grandfather Smith.

Gifts already received include a fishing pole and a pair of wading boots from the Huntley end of the ancestry and a shot gun and game bag from the Smith end.

Early this morning—quite early, it is reported—the lad began to cry. When this phenomenon was brought to the attention of his grandparents, two divergent explanations were offered, and an argument precipitated at once.

"John Herbert is crying because he can't go fishing," declared Grandfather Huntley with conviction.

"It is nothing of the kind," stated Grandfather Smith. "He is crying because he can't go hunting."

When the argument grew hot, it was at length agreed, the proud father acting as arbitrator general, to let John Herbert himself settle the question. But when approached for a statement of his stand in the matter, the young sportsman refused to be interviewed.

Big Prediction Is Made for Michigan

DETROIT—Michigan in 1923 will experience the greatest industrial development of its history, when the output of the mills and factories of the state will be double that of 1917, and when cities will add to their permanent populations by the thousands.

This is the prediction of John L. Lovett, manager of the Michigan Manufacturers' Association, following a survey of the state.

"Michigan will take the lead among all the states next year in the industrial field," Mr. Lovett said, adding that the gains in this direction would surpass the boom days during and immediately after the war.

Community Service Discusses Finances

A budget was discussed and voted yesterday noon at a luncheon and meeting of the executive committee of Glendale Community Service at the Broadway Inn. The committee is planning to hold weekly luncheons until the amount of the budget is raised some time in January.

The report coming from the meeting brought the message that "The Chamber of Commerce builds commercially and it is the aim of Community Service to bring recreational happiness to the city of homes."

Scotland Yard Head Likes Our System

NEW YORK—"The system employed by the New York police department in handling its prisoners is a marvelously perfect machine."

Major Llewellyn W. Atcherly, head of Scotland Yard, here for the police conference, made this statement after he had become acquainted by personal contact with the system in the West Forty-seventh street station.

The major, to know at first how a prisoner is handled here when arrested, went incognito through the process of being "arrested," finger-printed, pedigreed, searched and locked up.

He complained only that the cell had no push button for the calling of an attendant.

Learn Carols, Urges Alexander Stewart

If Glendalians follow the directions of the Glendale Community Service music committee to "Learn a Carol a Day" for the next week, they will be all prepared for the big community sing announced today for Monday night, December 18, at 8 o'clock in the Glendale Union High school auditorium.

Alexander Stewart will direct the community singing and in addition there will be varied entertainment numbers. There will be no admission charged to the affair and "all of Glendale" is invited.

Ask Queenstown Be Port of Call Again

DUBLIN—An effort is being made by the free state government to get the great shipping lines to call again at Queenstown. Since 1915 the great cross Atlantic liners have abandoned Queenstown as a port of call, and Irish-Americans have to go to Cherbourg and then back to Southampton, and from there back to Dublin. This, it is pointed out, entails more than forty-eight hours extra travel upon all visiting Ireland.

A Gift That Grows

—To select gifts of a permanent or lasting character and at the same time keep within the amount that you think you can afford to spend, is a real problem for Christmas shoppers. Most gifts of that kind are quite expensive. You will perhaps welcome a suggestion at this time that will solve your problem easily and quickly. Give a Christmas Bank Account for any sum, $1.00 or more.

—In six months or a year from now ordinary Christmas gifts will have been worn out or forgotten. But the Bank Account you gave now will have actually grown in value for it draws compound interest at 4 per cent, credited twice a year.

—With each Christmas account we loan free a handsome nickeled Home Safe in an attractive Christmas package.

—Come in and make your arrangements today.

She patted her hair at the back of her head and righted the mop which hung over one eye. Then she rearranged her skirts and waited. As the man approached she saw that he was better looking than she had even dared to hope, and that there was something extremely familiar about his appearance. It was not, though, until he was almost in front of the house that he looked up at the girl and she recognized him.

Then Maggie Shane gasped and clutched the handrail at her side. An instant later the man was past and continuing his way along the sidewalk.

Maggie Shane glared after him for a minute, then she ran quickly down the stairs and into a grocery store a few doors west, where she asked if she might use the telephone.

"Gimme West 2063," she demanded of the operator, and a moment later: "Is this Lake Street?"

"Well, say, Billy Byrne's back. I just seen him."

"Yes, an' never mind who I am; but if youse guys want him he's walkin' west on Grand Avenoo right now. I just this minute seen him near Lincoln," and she smashed the receiver back into its hook.

Billy Byrne thought that he would look in on his mother, not that he expected to be welcomed even though she might happen to be sober, or not that he cared to see her; but Billy's whole manner of thought had altered within the year, and something now seemed to tell him that it was his duty to do the thing he contemplated. Maybe he might even be of help to her.

But when he reached the gloomy neighborhood in which his childhood had been spent it was to learn that his mother was dead and that another family occupied the tumble-down cottage that had been his home.

If Billy Byrne felt any sorrow because of his mother's death he did not reveal it outwardly. He owed her nothing but for kicks and cuffs received, and for the surroundings and influences that had started him upon a life of crime at an age when most boys are just entering grammar school.

Really the man was relieved that he had not had to see her, and it was with a lighter step that he turned back to retrace his way along Grand Avenue. No one of the few he had met who recognized him had seemed particularly delighted at his return. The whole affair had been something of a disappointment. Therefore, Billy determined to go at once to the Lake Street Station and learn the status of the Schneider murder case. Possibly they had discovered the real murderer, and if that was the case Billy would be permitted to go his way; but if not then he could give himself up and ask for a trial, that he might be exonerated.

As he neared Wood street two men who had been watching his approach stepped into the doorway of a saloon, and as he passed they stepped out again behind him. One upon either side they seized him.

Billy turned to remonstrate.

TODAY—If you don't know where the principal points of interest are located in New York don't admit it, advises Roland Krebs, correspondent at New York. It is an unpardonable sin to be misinformed.

TOMORROW—Alice Langelier, Paris correspondent, contributes a column of news and notes of life in the French capital.

By ROLAND KREBS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Thrice cursed is the man who in New York says: "I don't know."

The pilgrims from Goose Ankle, Okla, and points north, east, south and west, who make up the bulk of New York's changing population, all try to appear born to the metropolis and familiar with its every nook and cranny.

To be asked where Longacre Square is and to answer "I don't know" is to stamp one's self a hay shaker from the great open spaces. Much better it is to say: "Take a Seventh avenue subway to Times Square, shuttle to Grand Central and then a Corona subway and get off at Twenty-fifth street." It may land the visitor in Elmhurst, Long Island, but what of it? It's better than admitting you know no more about it than he does.

Until one has lived here 8,392 years it is well night impossible to remember which of the bridges over the East river is which. The "cosmopolitans" frequently point out the Queensboro bridge to visitors from the sticks as Brooklyn Bridge.

A recently arrived citizen provoked a guffaw on a Broadway subway when his seat partner asked what the funny doo-hickey was suspended from the ceiling. It was the horn of an amplifier that helps the guards call the approaching stations, but the man asked didn't know that. He explained: "Why, that's one of these horns for radio—concerts, weather reports and all that."

One means of exuding big city sophistication is to boast of at fewest one friend who is addicted to the dope habit. Few persons other than the unfortunate addicts know just what the different reactions of heroin, laudanum, morphine, opium and yen shee are.

For example, two chaps who had grown hardened to the big burg in every bit of three weeks were seated in a restaurant recently. One idly produced a tiny vial and began fidgeting with it.

"What's that?" asked his friend. It probably was baking soda.

"Morphine."

"Gee, I didn't know you were snuffing that."

"Yeah" — in boredom — "I started out just to see what it was like, but now I take doses that'd make a crossing watchman's shanty think it was the Woolworth building.

"Say, buddy," returned his friend, "you want to lay off that stuff; it'll ruin your stomach."

Still, New York can be ashamed of its great colony of narcotic thralls. Not so long ago an imported automobile drew up before a West Side hospital. Maids, carrying traveling bags and hat boxes, followed a beautiful girl with a flaming fan of red hair.

A man, a friend, accompanied her. He was very frank about it. He said he wished to bring the girl in under an assumed name to hide her identity and to cure her of the habit. She had taken a sniff at a party "for the experience" and had become a hopeless slave. Finally, when it became apparent the drug was worsting her, she told her wealthy parents she was going to Florida, but instead she came trembling, quaking and crying for heroin to the hospital to be freed of the curse.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BECKIE'S BOTTLE.

"Isn't it too bad, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one day, as the muskrat lady housekeeper returned to the bunny's hollow stump bungalow, after having been down town shopping.

"Isn't what too bad?" Mr. Longears wanted to know. "I hope you aren't saying it's too bad that you have brought the Woozie Wolf or the Fuzzy Fox home with you!"

"No, indeed!" laughed Nurse Jane, though her smile soon faded and she looked sad and sorrowful. "I meant it was too bad about Beckie Stubtail."

"What's the matter with Beckie?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "I hope she didn't eat so much of the honey that Neddie brought home as to make herself ill. I hope not that!"

"Well, Beckie is ill," said Nurse Jane, "though it isn't from eating too much honey. It's something else. She has a sore mouth and can't eat anything."

"Oh, that is quite too bad!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "So Beckie is ill with a sore mouth and can't eat! I'll go right over and see her. I can at least cheer her up by telling her a funny story."

He sat down beside Beckie's bed

Putting on his tall silk hat and twinkling his pink nose, Uncle Wiggily hopped across the field to the home of Beckie Stubtail, the little girl bear sister of Neddie.

"How is Beckie?" asked Uncle Wiggily, when Mrs. Stubtail opened the door to let him in.

"Not much better," answered the lady bear. "I have sent for Dr. Possum, for if Beckie doesn't eat pretty soon she will get as thin as a rail from the fence. And goodness knows if ever we bears need to be fat and plump it is during the winter."

"Yes," agreed Uncle Wiggily, "that's so. But while you are waiting for Dr. Possum I'll see if I can cheer up Beckie." So the bunny gentleman went in the room where Beckie was lying in bed, and after telling her she would soon be better, he told her a funny story of a little mousie girl who was always getting her tail tied in a hard knot and then the mousie girl would have to get the pussy cat to loosen the knot in the tail.

"Oh, don't tell me any more funny stories like that, Uncle Wiggily if you please," begged Beckie.

"Why not?" asked the bunny gentleman.

"Because I want to laugh and my mouth is so sore it hurts me even to smile." said Beckie. "And oh, how hungry I am! But I can't eat with a sore mouth. Do you think I'll get better by Christmas Uncle Wiggily? 'Cause I want to eat then."

"Oh, you'll be all right by Christmas!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, and then in came Dr. Possum. He looked at Beckie's sore mouth and gave her some juice of a plant called Gold Thread.

"You will be better in three days," said Dr. Possum.

"But I can't go three days without eating!" mumbled Beckie, "and I can't open my mouth wide enough to take any food. It's hard enough to drink water."

"Oh, I have an idea!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "If Beckie can swallow water she can take milk, and milk is a good food. And if she can open her mouth only a little way then we must find some plan to get milk into her mouth, if she only just opens her jaws the least bit. I think a bottle would be best."

"What do you mean by a bottle?" asked Dr. Possum.

"Well," answered Uncle Wiggily, "we will take a large bottle and over the mouth we will put a rubber hose. Then we'll hang the bottle on the wall over Beckie's bed. The milk will run down out of the bottle and thru the hose. Beckie can put the other end of the hose in her mouth a little bit to do this—and she can suck the milk through the hose from the bottle."

"Oh, that will be fun!" said Beckie, almost laughing. "It will be like when I was a little baby bear with a nursing bottle."

Dr. Possum said it was a fine idea. Soon the bottle was fastened to the bed so the milk would run out of the hose and into Beckie's mouth, and she didn't have to open her jaws enough to hurt her.

In this way the little girl bear could have something to eat. She could live on milk during the three days it would take for her mouth to get well. And when Uncle Wiggily had helped fix the bottle in place, he sat down beside Beckie's bed to wait for the little girl bear to fall asleep. But, instead, Uncle Wiggily fell asleep himself.

And while he slept the Fuzzy Fox crept into the room to nibble the bunny's ears. But Beckie saw the Fox. The little girl bear took the hose from the bottle of milk out of her mouth and aimed it at the Fox.

"Squizz! squirt!" went a lot of milk in the face of the Fox.

"Oh, Wozie! Wozie!" howled the bad chap, and then with his eyes filled with milk away he ran and Uncle Wiggily awakened. And how the bunny laughed when he heard how Beckie had driven away the Fox.

Mrs. Stubtail wiped up the milk that spilled on the floor and then Beckie went to sleep, and in three days she was all well.

But the bottle helped a lot, I think. And if the postage stamp doesn't crawl inside the envelope to tickle the letter and make it sneeze, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Bobby's ball.

New York Hospitals Cure Mental Cases

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Thirty per cent of the people entering New York State hospitals for mental treatment are discharged annually as either cured or improved.

So declares Dr. G. B. Smith, of Alton, Ill., one of three members of the National Committee on Mental Hygiene, now engaged in a survey of mental condition and environment of prisoners in jails and prisons in this State.

Further, according to Dr. Smith, persons afflicted with mental diseases are now asking for treatment instead of trying to avoid it, as in the past.

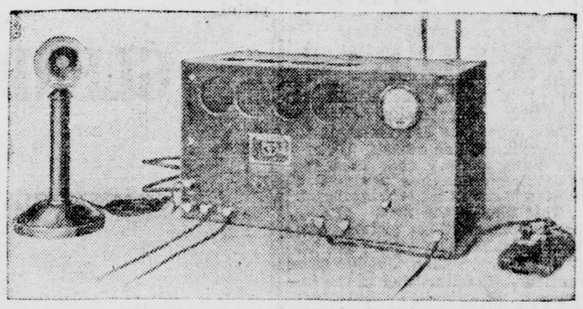

"Statistics show that more beds are used in hospitals in the United States for persons with mental diseases than all other diseases combined," said Dr. Smith. "There has been an extraordinary increase in treatments for these troubles in the last few years, which might lead one to think that the diseases themselves are increasing.

"But the truth is that the increase is due to the fact that people afflicted are not keeping it quiet, but are asking to be cured. No longer is there any stigma attached."

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

VACUUM TUBE TRANSMITTER

Many amateurs are not satisfied with merely receiving broadcasted music and speech, but are branching out into the transmitting field themselves. For this reason several of the larger manufacturers are now offering on the market well designed and very practical transmitters which can be used for both telephony and continuous wave telegraphy.

The illustration shows one of the latest models. The circuit used is extremely simple and effective. There is only one inductance to which the connected antenna, counterpoise around and the plates, grids and filaments of the modulator and oscillating tubes are connected. When the installation is made the entire tuning operation is accomplished by adjusting clips on the inductance.

Space forbids a detailed description of this set, and it is illustrated and briefly commented upon here merely to give the reader some idea of the development of compact, simple transmitters designed for the amateur who is unable through various exigencies to assemble his own equipment.

COMPARISON OF STORAG EBATTERIES

The construction of the previously discussed types of storage (viz, the lead and the Edison cells), is so radically different that a brief comparison is not out of place.

The lead cell will suffer serious injury if not well cared for and if not charged according to the use for which it is rated. Furthermore, it will deteriorate rapidly if allowed to remain idle without care. As previously pointed out, if left idle in a run-down condition, a sulphating action will result. As the sulphate crystals increase they cause a stress on the places forcing the active materials out and causing disintegration and the plate to buckle.

An Edison battery, on the other hand, by nature of its sturdier construction and the materials utilized, may be said to be as near "fool proof" as anything thus far placed upon the market. It will retain its charge over a long period of idleness. It may remain idle for an indefinite time, either charged or discharged, without injury. It may be short circuited and totally discharged without harm, whereas this would ruin a lead cell. An Edison cell can be discharged, or discharged of water differing from its normal rate while it has been previously shown that the lead cell must be charged or discharged at or near its normal rate.

While the general method of charging both lead and Edison cells is similar, there are some features which are not alike that would require some differentiation in the description of these charging methods. These will be dealt with in the next two of these articles.

Detroit's Growth Calls for Subways

DETROIT, Mich. — Immediate consideration of plans for a subway to link Detroit with its suburbs was urged by Mayor James Couzens, in an address before the newly organized Highlands Park Progressive Voters' Association.

Such a development, the Mayor said, might well become a part of the metropolitan plan which advocates of efficient government are urging for Detroit.

Detroit and vicinity will attain 2,000,000 population in the next few years, the Mayor declared.

Before any definite plan is adopted the citizens should study carefully the operation of metropolitan or city-county governments in a number of American municipalities, the Mayor advised. He cited the borough plan of New York as one of the most successful in operation.

Stabbed by Neuritis!

Many people suffer attacks by this arch-fiend, commonly called "nerve inflammation." The first warning is usually a sharp, stabbing pain, which may "come and go" or hurt constantly. You may feel it in the shoulder, neck, forearm, small of the back, or down the thigh and leg to the heel. It is sometimes mistaken for sciatica, rheumatism or neuralgia, which troubles often end in neuritis.

No matter where you have nerve pains or what caused them, you can get quick relief without using narcotics or poison. Just apply Tysmol over the part that hurts, and in 3 to 5 minutes the pain should be gone.

Tysmol is absorbed through the pores of the skin. It has a soothing, healing effect upon the diseased nerves, gradually helping to restore them to healthy condition.

Don't suffer any longer. Price $1 at Roberts & Echols. Tysmol Company, Mfg. Chemists, 400 Sutter Street, San Francisco.—Advertisement.

Heart and Home — Health and Happiness

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

If you had to name some single quality as most indispensable in man or woman as a foundation for a happy marriage, what one would you name?

It would not take me long to pick it out.

Of course unselfishness is a great help. And a sense of humor. And a sense of proportion. All these I have recommended in other days. And all are great helps in the art of how to be happy though married. But there is another quality even more necessary. If one has an indefinite supply of it, one may get along without the others. And if one has it not, the others are not enough.

I refer to tact.

A Mental Sense of Touch

What is tact? The first definition in the dictionary is "a sense of touch." It comes from the Latin "tactus." The second definition is "sensitive mental touch."

A person who has tact has a sort of mental antennae with which he feels other peoples' states of mind.

He or she (more generally she because he seldom cares so much about other people's feelings, and you have to care to be able to develop this quality in its higher degree) knows what other people like to talk about.

What Tact Teaches

She knows instanly when people are bored.

She is immediately conscious of any tension in the atmosphere if the wrong people have been brought together or some unwelcome subject has been introduced.

She knows when people are nervous and edgy and want to be let alone.

She has a fine sense of the right time to approach difficult subjects and when to draw back.

She knows exactly what things people like best to be complimented upon.

She understands human emotions and how to handle them to any given end.

Wish More People Knew

She knows when people are refusing another helping for politeness and when they really don't want one.

Two other ways of expressing what tact means, are "sympathetic imagination" and the ability to put yourself in his place.

I said above that tact was more important for a happy marriage (especially on the woman's part) than unselfishness or a sense of proportion or a sense of humor. I wonder if tact does not include those three qualities. For one must have a sense of humor and a sense of proportion to be able to enter into the hearts and minds of others. And to have true tact one must not only understand other people's feelings but must be tender to them, and what is that but unselfishness?

SOME MORE CANDIES FOR THE CHRISTMAS BOX

Fruit Confections—Melt one cup of fondant slightly over hot water and add to it one tablespoon each of finely cut citron, chopped almonds, candied cherries and a half teaspoon vanilla. Put this into a pan and add a weight to it to press it into shape. Let it stand twenty-four hours and cut into squares.

Chocolate Covered Cocoanut Balls—Knead rather hard fondant until it is soft and pliable, then rub into it as much fresh and sweet shredded cocoanut as it will hold. Shape into balls and dip into melted chocolate. When dipping the balls, or ovals, as you may have shaped them use a knitting needle inserted into one end, or drop them into the melted chocolate and, when thoroughly covered, dip them out with a three-tined fork.

Creamy Fudge—Put two cups granulated sugar in saucepan with four tablespoons cocoa; mix well and add one-fourth cup corn syrup, one cup warm milk and one tablespoon butter. Cook all together until it will form a soft ball when tested in ice water, or when it registers 240 on the candy thermbmeter. Take from the fire, add one teaspoon vanilla and then beat it until it is smooth and creamy. Pour into a buttered pan and cut into squares. Chopped nuts or fruit may be added when it is nearly ready to turn into pan.

Crcain Loaf—Put into a saucepan, four cups granulated sugar, two-thirds of a cup of corn syrup and one pint of cream. Cook over a rather brisk fire until it forms a soft ball when tested in ice water, or when it registers 240 on the candy thermometer. Remove from the fire and cool. When cool, beat until creamy and add one-half cupful each of candied, shredded, pineapple, cherries and citron. Turn into a wetted mould and set away to harden. When hard, turn out and coat with melted bitter chocolate. When the chocolate has set, cut into slices and then into squares and wrap in oil paper.

Pinoche—Put two cups brown sugar, one-half cup milk and two tablespoons butter in saucepan and cook until a soft ball forms when tested in ice water, or when it has reached 240 degrees on the candy thermometer. Remove from the fire, cool, add one cup of chopped nut meats and one-half teaspoon vanilla and beat until creamy. Pour into buttered pan and cut into squares.

French Creams — Beat the white of one egg with one and one-half teaspoon cold water and one-half teaspoon vanilla until thoroughly mixed. Add gradually one pound of sifted confectioner's sugar, or until the mixture is stiff enough to knead. Shape into balls, ovals or any desired shape. These may be used for creamed walnuts, dates and almonds or the popular "white shirt fronts," which is merely cooked prunes, pit removed and the cavity filled with a cream ball.

Stuffed Dates—Plunge dates quickly down and up in boiling water, then dry and remove stones. Fill cavity with chopped nuts mixed with fondant or French cream flavored as desired. Press the dates together and roll in fine, granulated sugar. Cherries, prunes and figs may be stuffed in the same way.

Glace Fruits and Nuts — The nuts should be clean and free from loose particles; the fruit should be perfectly dry and free from dust. Quickly dip them in melted sugar and put at once into small paper cases or on oiled paper. (The sugar should be melted over low fire, without the addition of any water).

Get Back Coin Lost Because of Jockey

PARIS.—Pretty soft for the backers of Le Dauphin. It's a case of can't lose, thanks to the Dauphin's owner, Jefferson Davis Cohn.

Dauphin won the Paris Conciller's Prize, that is to say, he came in first. In this case, however, coming in first didn't get the money. The Dauphin's jockey, Al Sharpe, changed saddles at the last minute and at the scales he was four ounces underweight. The stakes went to the second best, Le Prodige.

Cohn is reported to have lost 10,000 pounds for these four ounces. He has protested that the scales are not correct. The governors are investigating. In the meantime a ten franc bettor has sued for the money he lost on the horse, claiming the racing card carried the weights and he bet on that authority.

The reply of Owner Cohn to this suit has brought joy to all the small timers that had money on his entry. Cohn has agreed to refund the money to all five and ten franc backers upon presentation of their tickets.

TUBERCULOSIS—NO. 2

When I had charge of the laboratory of the Los Angeles County Hospital, where I had the honor of being the first woman interne, specimens of the sputa of all the patients were examined by me, or by nurses and medical students under my supervision.

Sometimes we searched for the pneumonia germs and other germs but most of the work was searching for the tuberculosis germs. The germ is called the tuberculosis germ because when it begins to multiply nature throws a little defensive wall around it that forms a little nodule or tubercle. Unless this tuberhle breaks down, which it may do later in the disease, the germs are not coughed up. So that in the early stages of tuberculosis the germs are never found.

The examination of the sputum for the tuberculosis germs we called hunting the little red bugs. Tuberculosis germs belong to the vegetable kingdom, not the animal, so that they are not bugs. Nor are they red. We called them red because we stained them red. I shall tell you in general the technique we used in hunting the little red bugs. It will interest you.

A specimen of the sputum is smeared thinly on a glass slide. This is dried and then "fixed" on the slide by passing quickly through a flame. Now a red stain is poured on and gently boiled for a few moments.

The next step apparently undoes what we have been doing. For we decolorize the slide by putting it in an acid solution. When all of the stain is apparently out, we wash the slide and apply, usually, a blue stain. Apparently now all of the material on the slide is blue.

Now we will suppose this specimen has the tuberculosis germs on it. Putting the slide under the most powerful lens of a modern microscope and examining it, what do we find? Perhaps ephithelial cells from the bronchial tubes, pus cells (dead lucocytes—white blood cells), threads of clear mucous, many hundreds of different pus germs, perhaps a few pneumonia germs, all stained a beautiful blue. Blue, blue, everything different shades of blue apparently. But ah! Here is a little slender red line.

We examine it minutely. Is it perhaps a tiny crack in the glass that has retained the red stain? No, it is rod shaped with rounded ends, and a crack would have pointed ends. It is the T. B. germ—the little red bug.

Now we go on our journey across the slide. Perhaps we find more of them. Perhaps not. The one little red bug, if it is characteristic, is sufficient for the diagnosis. Other specimens from the same patient may show very many more.

But why have these T. B. germs hung on to the red stain when the others give it up in the acid bath? Because they have a waxy covering which absorbs the stain and the acid is not used long enough to make it come out. Therefore we call the T. B. germs acid fast. There are a few other acid fast bacteria that look like the T. B. germ but are not disease producing. Some of these innocent ones may be around the genital organs and in examining the pus from a urine to see if there is T. B. of the kidneys, for instance, we would have to be sure that these germs were the T. B. germs and not the innocent ones called the smegma bacilli.

The only sure way that this could be determined is to inject some of the pus into a healthy guinea pig. If the guinea pig develops T. B. then the diagnosis is made. This procedure may save a person from having a kidney removed for T. B.

Tuberculosis is a curable but a terrible disease. Have you bought your Christmas Seals to do your little share in helping to educate and stamp it out?

It's A Fact

HEAVENS 12 TIMES VASTER

Harvard University astronomers at their station in Peru find by measuring the distance to a newly discovered outpost of the heavens, that the universe probably has a diameter of two quintillions and 100 quadrillions of miles. A few years ago scientists placed the farthermost limits of the Milky Way at 30,000 parsecs, or light years. A light year is 6,000,000,000,000 miles, the distance a beam of light, traveling at 186,000 miles a second, will cover in a year. The discovery of this new star cluster indicates that instead of 30,000 light years wide, the universe is 400,000 light years across. What helped this new star cluster visible were hundreds of suns within it 10,000 times brighter than our sun, but almost as far away as peace is from Europe.

FORD THE RICHEST MAN?

The Wall Street Journal says Henry Ford is the richest man. James A. Davis, a reliable financial expert, backs John D. But Roger Babson, famous statistician, says Secretary Mellon of the Treasury, probably could match, dollar for dollar, the joint incomes of Ford and Rockefeller. While Ford is rated to have the biggest individual income and the most profitable business Rockefeller is considered the richest man in actual cash. His income is about twenty-five million dollars a year. His total fortune is estimated at from 500 to 750 million dollars with the expectation that it will soon reach the billion mark. The bulk of Ford's income of 125 million dollars a year goes back into the Ford Motor Car company.

Example has hypnotic force.

Beauty Chats by Edna Kent Forbes

FROM THE MAILBAG

Badly Dressed:—I know exactly the feeling you have about being dowdy and shabby. It's really very foolish of you, but I can understand and sympathize! Your truest friends will love you just as much—but they'll leave you out of their smart parties because you can't dress up to them; and they'll probably think it's to save your feelings too, since you might feel conspicuous in a better dressed crowd.

I think the solution is to learn to sew. Some of the women's magazines give courses, printed lessons each month. Some shops teach sewing too, and night schools always have dress making courses. If you can't find such a way out, apprentice yourself to a dressmaker, even for nothing, in order to learn to use a needle. You'll find it astonishingly easy to make your own things. As for having "no ideas," as you complain, don't worry! They'll come. Study every fashion picture you find, and adapt and modify the ideas you see printed!

Clothes are so easy nowadays, and most of them are made from two kinds of materials anyway, so remnants can be used. And lines are still straight and loose and simple and trimming is not much favored. You'll get on. Hundreds of other women who have lost their incomes have done just this and held up, and dressed up, to their social position. Meantime, if you must buy ready made clothes, buy simple things and dress them up with a bit of good trimming.

Mother:—There are plenty of stories about mothers who have shaped their babies' chins when Nature brought them chinless into the world. Personally, I don't happen to know much about this, except that I know it is quite possible. One woman wrote me she had slightly changed and improved the shape of her baby's nose, who'd inherited a bad one.

But before you begin experimenting, ask a good doctor what he thinks about it. The infant's bones are so soft at this age that they can be slightly moulded by pressure with the fingers for a little while each day. Of course, facial surgeons have done wonders, even with grown-ups, particularly since the war.

Clara.—Indeed "scrawny" elbows can be made soft and rounded, even when the woman herself is very thin. Scrub them at night with hot water, soap and a flesh brush. Then sit for a while, say ten minutes, with the elbows in a saucer of warm olive oil. The skin takes up quite a bit of this nourishing fat. Now proceed to massage the elbows and the arms around them with the oil, and wipe off what remains on the skin. Do this every night and watch the daily improvement.

N. M. T.—Send me a letter with a s. a. s. e. enclosed, for the hair tonic formula. This works wonders in warding off grayness, especially when it comes prematurely as the result of scalp neglect and general ill health.

You can also pull out some of the most conspicuous gray hairs in front, rubbing the scalp afterward with the tonic. Indeed, you can do a lot to keep off the impression of graying hair by pulling out a white thread here and there.

And don't believe the superstition about three coming where one was pulled! Our grandmothers invented that. They thought fighting against age and grayness reprehensive frivolity!

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. DUES ON INCOME TAX NOW PAYABLE

Fourth Settlement Can Be Made December 15; L. A. District Leads

Thirty-five thousand taxpayers in southern California were notified yesterday by Collector Rex Goodcell that the fourth and final payment on their income tax will be due on December 15. Taxpayers who fail to meet this final installment will be classed as "delinquents" and the unpaid balance of the tax will be subject to immediate demand upon which penalties and interest will apply.

Income tax receipts for the Los Angeles district from January 1 to December 1 reached the staggering total of $27,289,564.30, which is larger than the combined internal receipts of all kinds produced in, an entire year by Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming, Washington, Alaska, New Mexico, Utah and Nevada.

Figured on a per capita basis every man, woman and child in the Los Angeles district paid $25.15 to Uncle Sam in income taxes last year. This is a national record.

Of 185,932 separate returns filed this year, only 35,000 elected to pay their taxes on the installment plan, 150,000 of those filing returns having paid the tax called for by their returns in one payment. It is this brigade of 35,000 that must make the fourth and final payment by December 15.

Sweeping investigation of 15,000 so-called doubtful returns is now being made by the field force of Collector Goodcell's office, reinforced by special investigators sent here from Washington. This probe will extend into February and thousands of dollars will be collected from increased assessments. Every return showing an apparent descrepany will be probed. Collector Goodcell declared that experience proved that the faulty returns filed were due in the majority of cases to the taxpayers misconstruction of the law and that increased assessments were promptly paid when the taxpayers had been intelligently advised as to their legal tax liability.

Will Verify Returns

The widespread drive of the field deputies will be devoted entirely to verification of doubtful returns and to the checking of returns made by corporations of dividends paid to individuals, and of returns by corporations and partnerships showing salaries of $1000 or more paid to individuals.

When these returns are checked the list of persons who filed income returns will be scrutinized to see if the dividends and salaries paid by corporations to individuals have been listed by the latter for taxation.

Transcripts will be made of all real estate transfers and checks made to verify returns filed as to profit or loss on such transactions.

While Collector Goodcell is acting under direct instructions from Washington, which govern the drive now on, he has directed field deputies to make their investigations with a minimum of annoyance to the taxpayer.

"Where income tax remittances are made by mail, it is advisable to purchase a money order or draw a check payable to Collector of Internal Revenue," said Collector Goodcell.

"Cash sent in is always at the owner's risk," he continued, "and if stolen, the taxpayer may find himself facing penalty for failure to pay his tax on time.

"Owing to the fact that there are hundreds of persons in this district with the same name and initials, it will greatly expedite the work of this office if taxpayers will write their first names in full, and set down their addresses plainly.

Unidentified Collections

"Up to July 1 of this year, $500,000 in unidentified collections were carried on our books. These funds for the most part were in the shape of checks, the signatures of which were illegible. It required a force of special federal auditors to run down and properly credit this immense sum. Taxpayers are urged to write their names plainly and to specify the tax they are paying."

Collector Goodcell calls attention to the fact that the mailing of a bill to a taxpayer at his last given address constitutes legal notice and not the delivery of the letter. He urges taxpayers to notify the internal revenue office of changes in address as they are still liable to taxes and penalties even though they do not receive notice of their indebtedness.

Tourists who are visiting in Southern California should send remittances on their income tax to the office at which they filed their original returns. Collector Goodcell pointed out that although Washington assesses the tax the payment of it must be made to the collector of internal revenue in whose district the taxpayer resides. Payments should never be sent to Washington.

The Reward of Dependable Service

The laborer is worthy of his reward.—1 Timothy iii:3

The highest rewards in business or the professions go to those who meet their responsibilities. The man or the institution performing a service on which the public can always rely, without disappointment or loss, with certainty of fullest satisfaction, stands at the forefront in every line of human endeavor.

It is by rendering such service, year in and year out, with utmost dependability, that the L. G. Scovern Co. occupies its present position.

RUMORS FLY IN BASEBALL WORLD

John J. McGraw and Colonel Huston Reported Sole Owners of Giants

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Hard upon the announcement that Colonel L. T. Huston's half interest in the New York Yanks is open to the highest bidder and that Frank Chance has signed as manager of the Boston Red Sox for one year, follows a backwash of rumors today, the most significant of which pictures Colonel Huston and John J. McGraw as owners and operators of the National Exhibition company, otherwise known as the New York Giants.

A companion rumor, freely circulated as the National league prepares to hold its annual meeting at the Waldorf, has Charley Stoneham selling his interest in the Giants. This report would seem to bear out, in part, the rumor of several months ago that Stoneham was prepared to step out.

The usual potpourri of reported deals is in the air. It is stated with the utmost positiveness that Eddie Collins will come to the Yankees and that Aaron Ward and Bob Muesel, with a pitcher, will go to Chicago. An outfielder, said to be Amos Strunk, is said to be headed here. Charley Ebbets is still peddling Zack Wheat and turning down offers for Jimmy Johnston.

Air Routes Reach Almost Round World

LONDON.—Airship passenger service encircling three-fourths of the globe will soon be inaugurated.

The British government is expected shortly to announce plans for a government air service between England and India. It will operate on a larger scale than anything heretofore conceived. Later, the service will be extended to Australia.

Definite plans have also been prepared for the establishment of a regular airship line across the Atlantic. The latter venture has been undertaken by the General Air Service.

Officials of the British Air Ministry state that they are prepared to offer any assistance. It is not impossible that the trans-oceanic airway will be run in conjunction with the British government's Indian service.

A special fleet of huge aircraft will be constructed for the route between London and New York. Each ship will be 900 feet long, 114 feet in diameter and capable of carrying 100 passengers.

They will have a cruising speed of seventy-five miles per hour compared with twenty-five knots now attained by the speediest ocean liners.

Bankers, commercial representatives and government officials will profit by this extraordinary reduction in the time required to cross the Atlantic.

Additional ships will be constructed as the popularity of air travel increases among tourists to and from the United States.

The journey from New York to London will take forty-eight hours. The passenger quarters will consist of well-furnished staterooms, complete restaurant facilities, music and every provision for comfort and convenience.

It is hoped to inaugurate the trans-Atlantic service during the fall of next year.

Child Labor Found on Farms In Kansas

TOPEKA, Kan.—Miss Alice McFarland, head of the welfare division of the Kansas Industrial court, has just returned from an investigation of a new child labor problem in the state. It is the employment of large numbers of children in the sugar-beet fields of Finney and Kearney counties.

During the spring and summer the children work at cultivating the beets and thinning out the plants. In the fall they are employed at topping the beets and cleaning them, ready to be sent to the sugar mills.

At present there is no law relating to the child labor problems on the farms. The state has ample laws to prevent the employment of children in any factories. But it does not apply to farming or to the beet sugar industry. The children are employed 12 to 14 hours a day, and most of them are from 8 to 15 years of age. They are able to cut off tops of the beets and pile the beets in racks for easy loading. They are able to handle the tops which are used as stock feeds.

The truancy laws are the only ones which can be invoked to prevent the working of children for long hours at topping beets. These require that children must stay in school during the school year until they have completed the eighth or grammar school work, or have reached 16 years of age. Miss McFarland found the truancy laws being regularly violated in the beet section and has demanded that these laws be enforced at once. It is planned to ask the legislature for a law which would prevent the overworking of children in the beet fields.

Just what manner of man Battling Siki, the Senegalese fighter, is seems a mooted question, but the fan who dubbed him a "crazy galoot" probably hit as near the mark as anyone. Probably, like the run of his race, he is a child with the mind of a child and inasmuch as it's in the blood, there is little liklihood that he will be any different.

The insistence with which Jess Willard sought to obtrude himself as an aspirant to fight Dempsey seems to have slackened of late. It is quite possible that Jess has noted the fact that he was not making an impression with the public as to his fitness and that the verdict is a distinct thumbs down may have percolated his intellect. However, there are many who believe that talk of the encounter again will be revived, sooner or later. Nothing would be more convincing of the sincerity of Willard than for him to take on a few dubs in real contests. This should be insisted on before he does anything else.

While December 30, the date for the East versus West post season football game between Pittsburgh and Stanford to be played at Palo Alto, California, still is a considerable way in the offing, the preliminary interest in the game seems to be lacking. Here are two teams that do not figure among the contenders for high honors in their respective sections. Whether one team or the other wins will in no wise prove anything. The same may be said of the game to be played at Pasadena on New Year's day between Penn State and a coast team other than the champion University of California, this institution having refused to be considered in the matter.

These are tough days for the football coach whose team failed to make a good showing. Quite a number of the boys are waiting for the return of the jury.

The inspirational value of a pair of professional golfers to the average player is being recognized so that even smaller cities and towns are beginning to arrange dates with the experts for exhibition matches. The fact also speaks well for the flourishing condition of practically all golf clubs in the country from a financial point of view. The majority of these organizations have waiting lists.

THEATRES

The Glendale

"Rags to Riches," with freckle-faced Wesley Barry, continues at the Glendale Theatre, where it is sending the audiences into hysterics of laughter. "Wes," as sterics of laughter. "Wes," as young Marmaduke Clarke, is a scream. He finds himself in a den of thieves, sleeps out of doors, eats whole pies, falls from a trestle into a raging river, pursues and captures crooks, dives into bath tubs and in every foot of this amazing and uproarious film disports himself to the delight of young and old alike.

In addition to this phenomenally successful feature, Manager W. A. Howe announces a preview tonight. The film is "The Remittance Woman," a special feature starring Ethel Clayton. As usual, when a preview is given, there will be but one performance, starting at 7:30.

The T. D. & L.

"Kick In," the exciting, romantic picture featuring Betty Compson, Bert Lytell and May McAvoy, which shows at the T. D. & L. Theatre today, is from the famous Willard Mack play of the same name. This play had a continuous run of over two years in New York. The picture version is in for as long or longer a run for it is even finer.

Miss Compson and Mr. Lytell make an excellent working team. Everyone will like "Kick In," for the flashing, pulsating drama it is.

Starting Sunday next, Manager Ralph Allan announces as a T. D. & L. attraction de luxe, "East Is West," the smashing Constance Talmadge hit that is sweeping the country. This picture is lavish in every way and one of the finest productions of the year.

Spear and Bolo in Use in Philippines

MANILA—Gas and liquid fire may no longer be popular as weapons of fighting, but the old-time spear and bolo are still popular in the Philippines. Constabulary reports recently recorded a fight between two Ifugaos of Mountain Province where Quilip of Mandang, Mountain Province, was speared to death by Kindepan, a resident of the same town, when they met on the road. Quilip was armed only with a bolo. The latter was able to inflict wounds on his assailant before he was finally dispatched by spear thrusts.

A woman in Montreal, more than 100 years old, nas outlived all beneficiaries in her will, her husband and her two children, as well as the executors of the will and the notary public who drew up the document.

Fast Talker Trims Michigan Farmer

KALAMAZOO, Mich.—A time-worn swindle in which J. M. East, farmer, residing near Marcellus, was relieved of $20,000 in a fake stock deal was revealed here when Sheriff Sherman P. Wyman left for Baltimore, Md., to return E. L. Reed, under arrest in that city as one of three men who bilked East by promises of fabulous dividends.

S. M. Jennings, arrested in Hamilton, Ont., charged with being a confederate of Reed, is out of $5,000 cash bond awaiting extradition.

The trio, who maintained luxurious quarters in a Grand Rapids hotel, talked East into buying stock in a reputable Saginaw corporation. They got his $20,000 and fled.

Dancing Wins Him; Biscuits Lose Him

CHICAGO, Ill.—Mrs. Kenneth Smith, 18, of 3909 Sheridan road, bride of three months, reported her husband missing to the police of Town Hall station. "We met at a dance," said Mrs. Smith, "and Kenneth fell in love with me because of my dancing and we were married. Shortly afterward I made some biscuits and he ate them.

Grieving Dog Cares for Fluffy Kitten

TAFT—Dr. Edward M. Johnson of this city owns a spaniel dog which has taken unto herself a little fluffy kitten and is proving herself an excellent provider as a nurse.

Some few weeks ago the spaniel lost her own puppies. Last week the Johnsons brought home a small kitten. Extra care was taken at first to keep the kitten out of the dog's path, that it might not meet an untimely end.

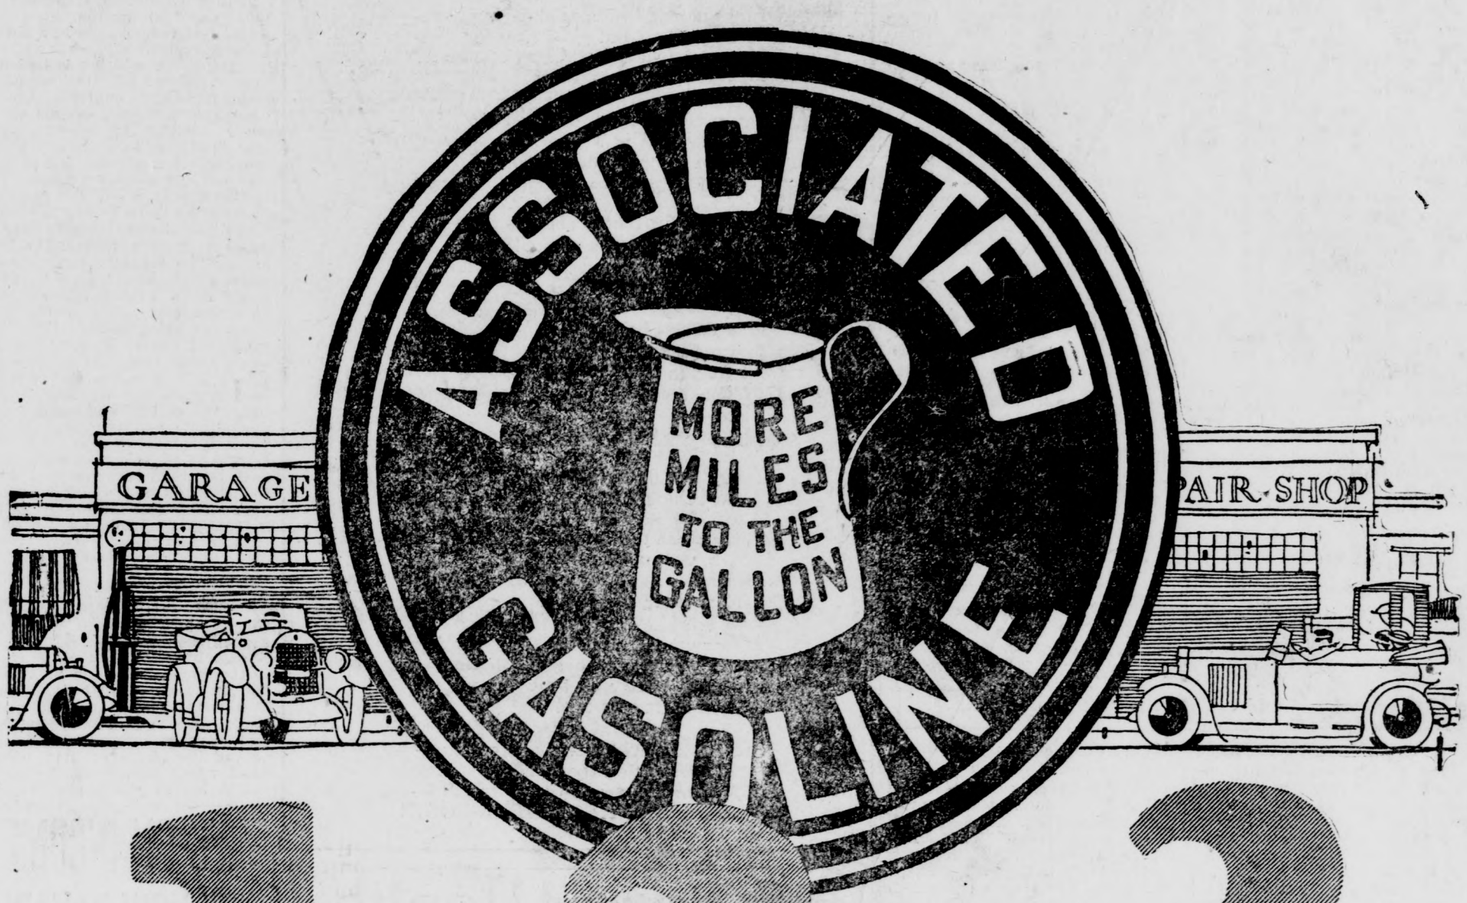

A few days ago, however, the spaniel overcame all obstacles, adopted the kitten, and is now assuming full responsibility for its raising to an age where it may safely negotiate the nearest telephone pole in case of necessity.

Women Travel Most; Trunk Men Declare

CHICAGO—Are women becoming greater travelers and outnumbering the other sex in their trips?

According to some members of the Baggage Manufacturers' Association, women travelers outnumber the men twenty to one, but W. W. Dodge, president of the association, is not so confident of the truth of the assertion.

"You can hardly say that, I think," he remarked. "I suppose it is based on the fact that a greater proportion of women than men are to be found among baggage buyers."

Lights Bother Men Testing Star Heat

LOS ANGELES.—Residents of Los Angeles and Pasadena are burning too much midnight oil and interfering with the efforts of scientists of the Smithsonian Institute on Mount Wilson to measure the temperature of the stars and determine what kind of climate they have up there. Dr. C. G. Abbot, well-known authority on science, is responsible for the charge.

Dr. Abbot has just completed some extensive work at Mount Wilson, and in an official report says:

"The galvanometer we used at the Mount Wilson Observatory is much more sensitive than any ever used before. We got hitherto unobtainable results in measuring the heat of the stars through it and by the aid of the 100-inch telescope.

"But at the most advanced stage of our observations we found that so small a thing as the turning on of a light in a house down in Pasadena or in the Los Angeles district would disturb the galvanometer. The electric wires there would throw us off to a disturbing degree. I don't know how we are going to offset this.

"We measured a hundred millionth degree temperature change," said Dr. Abbot, "and a trillionth of an ampere electric current. The various stars are extremely different in their spectrum distribution. This throws light on their temperature, which seems to range from 3,000 to 15,000 degrees centigrade."

Superstitions Still Grip Philippines

MANILA.—The "herb doctor" and common quack flourishes abundantly in the Philippines largely because the people are not free from the ancient superstitions of their native religion, in which sorcerers conjured the kinder gods and implored mercy for the sick in weird incantations and mystic dances performed at the bedside of their patients.

But Donato Bascos, a poor farmer, recently played more than even with his "herb doctor." He became convinced that the man was a fake and invited him to sleep in the house overnight. When the "doctor" had dropped off to sleep Donato crawled from his bed and boloed him to death. This is the bare report of the constabulary, but it is likely that there was neigborhood gossip that the "doctor" was a "mancuculam," or one in league with the devil. Such killings are usually traced to such beliefs.

Even in Manila, thriving metropolis of the Philippines, old notions hang on tenaciously. The man, a licensed doctor, whom it is proposed by the Quezon party to have Governor-General Wood appoint as mayor of the city, once submitted a formal memorial to ex-President Taft (when he was governor-general), in which the doctor said that Chinese were different and lower than other human beings.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour C. Smith of 416 West Wilson avenue, are parents of a nine pound boy born Sunday night, December 10, 1922, at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Hurd, of 1836 Vassar street, are parents of a boy born December 5, 1922, at their home. The infant has been named Herbert, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Bryant of 611 South Glendale avenue are parents of a son born last night, Monday, December 11, 1922, at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Deaths and Funerals

MRS. MARY K. SMITH

Mrs. Mary K. Smith died last night in Glendale, at the age of 60, after a brief illness.

The deceased, a native of Rhode Island, was a member of the Eastern Star and of the Women's Relief Corps. She is survived by relatives in the east.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the parlors of the L. G. Scovern undertaking company, with interment at Rhode Island.

Britain to Build Air Busses for Army

LONDON—Tip-up seats and general luxury will be the keynote of the wonderful new air busses now being built for the British Army.

No more will British soldiers be conveyed weary journeys in dreary troop trains. Henceforward the aerial transport machine will carry a fully-armed platoon of infantry at the rate of two miles a minute.

The construction of the new machines will begin next January. They will be constructed entirely of steel. The fuselage is to be especially roomy. The seats, when not in use, will fold back against the sides of the cabin.

The machines already designed will carry fifty men, with equipment, but those which will follow shortly after will be capable of taking one hundred or even two hundred soldiers. The smaller machines are expected to be in use by the middle of next year.

The craft will be fitted with four 750 horsepower Beardmore engines of the semi-Diesel oil-burning type. These will not only be economical to run, but will greatly reduce the risk of fire.

The present troop-carrying machines in use at Irak are designed for carrying twenty-five men only and consist of four squadrons. The primary use of these monster busses, is, of course, for policing large native areas and quickly quelling insurrections.

Don't clean your teeth with drugs

Remember, it is an easy matter to mask and conceal really dangerous (because too powerful) cleansing agents under a perfume and flavor. You really ought to post yourself by asking your dentist just what your dentifrice is made of. You cannot afford to abuse or injure your teeth merely to keep them clean.

Absolutely harmless to the enamel, the gums and the mucous membranes as well as to the stomach is

the Lemon Juice Dentifrice

made from the fresh fruit right where it is grown—in southern California.

We invite you to ask your dentist as well as your druggist about DENTOMEL and to be guided by what they will tell you about its purity and its wonderful record, particularly in the treatment of Pyorrhea.

Then get a bottle and try it.

Two Club Sections Hold Joint Meeting

The Parliamentary Law and Legislative sections of the Tuesday Afternoon club joined yesterday in a meeting at the home of Miss Eva Daniels at 324 West Colorado street. Fifty women were in attendance.

During a short business session Mrs. Homer Lockwood, secretary, read the minutes and a two-hour parliamentary drill followed under the direction of Mrs. P. S. McNutt. The drill dealt with main and subsidiary motions and amendments.

Arrangements of marigolds decorated the Daniels home for the meeting and the luncheon that was served late in the afternoon.

T. L. Terry States Business Is Good

Business has started off with a jump at the branch office of the H. L. Miller company at 1430 South San Fernando road according to its manager, T. L. Terry, who is very enthusiastic about Southern Glendale.

"I believe that comparatively few people realize the great opportunities for profitable investments which lies at their very door in Southern Glendale and adjoining territory," he remarked yesterday. "Changes are coming that will surprise everybody."

ARRESTED FOR BIGAMY

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12. — Charged with bigamy, Homer Redman, alias John W. Hayes, was arrested today at Fourth and Crocker streets. The complaint was sworn to by Viola Tolson, whom Redman said he had not seen for seven years. Pearl Wilson was named as the second woman in the case.

Ladies' Aid Bazaar Is Reported Success

The annual bazaar that was held Saturday by the Ladies' Aid society of the Casa Verdugo Methist church, was a success, financially and socially. A delicious cafeteria lunch was served at noon, and a buffet supper at night. The basement room was decorated in holiday colors, with streamers from the ceiling. The booths were well stocked with various articles which sold quite readily. Approximately $100 will be added to the treasury.

The ladies' aid, of which Mrs. John W. Cotton is president, has pledged $1000 toward the $10,000 that is to be used for extension work in connection with the church during the next two years.

MONEY TO LOAN

AT 7 PER CENT

I will furnish the money to build your home on payments. A. T. GRAY, Contractor and Builder. Phone, office, Glen 2147-R, residence, Glendale 1668-R. 209 W. Broadway.

MONEY TO LOAN

PICK OUT YOUR HOME ANYWHERE IN GLENDALE EAGLE ROCK, OR SAN FERNANDO VALLEY I'LL HELP YOU BUY IT

If you can spare $30 per month ($1 per day) above your present expenses. I will help you finance the purchase of a $5000 home.

By this method my clients find that they obtain lower prices from owners; they are paying their rent to themselves; they are paying several hundred dollars less interest and they are acting as their own broker and banker.

I will help finance the purchase of any property to cost from $1000 to as high as you care to go at less than 6 per cent net cost to you for the use of the money needed and all services rendered The payments you can make each month will govern the extent to which I can serve you.

NEW INDUSTRIAL LAW IS PLANNED

Gov.-Elect Davis Intends to Supplant Measure Used In Kansas

By DOUGLAS G. TINSLEY
For International News Service.

KANSAS CITY, Kan.—The eyes of the industrial world will turn westward next January and focus on Topeka, where the Kansas Legislature will decide whether Governor Henry J. Allen's industrial court law, designed to settle all disputes between labor and capital, shall live or die.

On the outcome of the battle on the floor of the Assembly will depend the future existence of the law, called by its opponents the "idealism of a dreamer" and by its advocates the solution of industrial differences.

Jonathan M. Davis, Democrat, self-styled "dirt farmer" and Governor-elect of Kansas, will seek to carry out his pre-election promises to have the law repealed. Governor Allen, although he will be out of office, is expected to throw the entire weight of his influence against wiping his favorite hobby from the statute books.

Urges Law's Repeal.

"One of my first acts as the Chief Executive of Kansas will be to advocate the repeal of the Kansas Industrial Court law and to substitute a less expensive and more effective weapon for settling industrial disputes," Davis has declared.

Whether Davis, the lone Democratic star in a firmament of Republicanism, will be able to control enough votes to secure the repeal of the law is doubted by the politicians. Nevertheless, Davis, elected on a platform pledging himself to repeal the law which brought him the almost solid support of labor in the State, will try. Flushed with victory by a substantial plurality in an ordinarily rock-ribbed Republican State on a day when the entire remainder of the Republican State ticket was elected and attributing his success in no small measure to his stand in opposition to the Industrial Court law, Davis's fight to secure its repeal is expected to be spectacular.

While Davis' opposition to the Industrial Court law has been consistent and intense—and to this he credits in great measure his election—Republicans claim that it played only a small part in his election.

Makhno, Plague of Soviet, Imprisoned

WARSAW—Makhno, a semi-brigand leader, who once gave the soviet government of Russia great trouble, has been imprisoned on charges of aiding bolshevik propagandists in Eastern Galicia.

Makhno's careers is one that that might do for a motion picture scenario. Originally an anarchist, he was for a time the trusted lieutenant of Grigorieff, formerly a social revolutionist and then a green army leader, who sometimes served and sometimes revolted against the Moscow government. Grigorieff is said to have had a weakness for murdering Jews, and his cruelties at Odessa are notorious; but he met death, it is stated, at the hands of Makhno.

On getting command of the green army, Makhno sometimes fought the red armies and even massacred communists, but he also opposed Denikin and Wrangel. He is said to have a prejudice against people who wear spectacles and generally he put bespectacled people to death whenever he captured them.

WAR HERO RECEIVES $10,000

—Copyright Underwood & Underwood.

A gift of $10,000, and additional $3500 life insurance policy and the paid up mortgage on his little home at Fort Thomas, Ky., was presented to Sergeant Samuel Woodfill at New York City. The presentation was made by Judge Phillip McCook, a buddy in the army with Woodfill, and came as a surprise to the latter, who was brought to New York upon pretense of participating in Armistice day celebrations. This photo shows Sergeant and Mrs. Woodfill all smiles watching the burning of the mortgage on their little Kentucky home.

year-old daughter, Mary Ellen, to Los Angeles. The officers have a minute description of the men, furnished by Spencer, who observed them closely on the ride to this city from Ventura county. The daring hold-up was staged as Spencer was closing the bank. After he had been forced to stick up his hands and back up against the wall, Spencer said one of the men picked up $5000 in currency and $900 in silver and about $200 worth of stamps. After robbing the bank the bandits brought Spencer and his little girl, who had gone to the bank from school to go home with her father, to Los Angeles and left them near West Lake park. Spencer said he and his daughter were rendered every possible courtesy on the trip to Los Angeles, one of the men lending him an overcoat. Spencer immediately reported the hold-up to the sheriff's office.

AMERICAN CONSUL AT MALTA IS SHOT, REPORT

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Mason Mitchell, American consul at Malta, was shot today, says a News Agency dispatch from Valetta. He was a native of Hamilton, New York. Mitchell's condition is not serious. His assailant, who is believed to be a mad man, escaped.

LABOR TO GET CHANCE TO ACCUSE DAUGHERTY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Labor will be given an opportunity to air its grievances against Attorney General Daugherty in impeachment proceedings before the house judiciary committee, the committee decided this afternoon. Persistent effort by Jackson Ralston, counsel for Representative Kellar, Republican, Minnesota, who brought the impeachment charges against Daugherty, and for the American Federation of Labor, forced the committee to abandon set forms of procedure and to take up at once the various allegations made by organized labor.

TWO WOMEN IN LONDON SENTENCED TO DEATH

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Justice Shearman, sitting in Old Bailey court, today sentenced two women to death for murder. They made three women that Justice Shearman had sentenced to death on the same charge in twenty-four hours, the third being Mrs. Edith Thompson, who instigated the murder of her husband. The women doomed today were Mary Jones and Daisy Wright. The wholesale sentencing of women to death in the same court aroused a tremendous sensation throughout London. Evening newspapers, in commenting upon it, professed to see a revolutionary movement on the part of the judiciary to recognize the demand of feminists for equal treatment for men and women under all circumstances. Mrs. Thompson will appeal, her counsel announced today. A determined effort will be made, in the meantime, to have the women reprieved. The last woman executed in Great Britain was Mrs. Rhoda Willis, who was hanged in Wales in 1907.

Philippines to Get Spanish Masterpiece

MANILA — Governor General Wood has appointed a committee of prominent Government officials to receive in behalf of the Philippine Government a copy of a famous painting by Juan Luna, the most famous Filipino painter. The painting, a gift to the Government from the Spanish community of Manila, is known as the "Spolarium" and received the highest honors in Europe, where it was produced and exhibited in 1881. It was later purchased by the Spanish Government and hangs in the Royal Palace. The copy, which is almost as famous as the original, is the work of a noted Spanish artist, Juan Antonio Benniliure. The painting will be placed in Marble Hall of the Auntimiento.

Restaurant Frocks New Parisian Style

PARIS.—Restaurant frocks are the latest development of French couturiers.

They come for the most part with gay upper parts of lama or embroidered crepe, with sober skirts of the draped or straight variety attached to their low waistlines. They are modest and becoming for street wear, with a jacket, and yet striking and even gorgeous when the jacket is removed, and the upper part alone appears over the restaurant table.

Francis is showing a charming model of this sort in soft black velvet, with a corsage of old rose and blue dentelle de laine, with tiny gold epaulettes. The same material forms the collar of the little box-jacket, which is embroidered in rose and blue to match the blouse. With the jacket it is a lovely street gown, without it—a very chic restaurant frock.

Another model is in black silk cashmere, with a waist of gold brocade tissue imported from India and which is "guaranteed not to tarnish." A skirt and jacket of moleskin makes up still another, and with it goes a blouse of mole-colored crepe. Almond green pipings give a touch of color to the jacket and blouse.

For the "uppers" of these frocks there is an endless variety of charming materials—Chinese crepes, decorated with little scenes of seas and mountains; crepe du Maroc, alternated with large stripes of silver or gold; mousselines de soie as delicate as cobwebs and lamas of shimmering gold.

step is very creditable, and the citizens of Glendale should feel very proud in having such men with vision and foresight in charge of city affairs.

"It is expected that the postal authorities will institute an aerial mail line between this port and New York similar to the line between San Francisco and New York. The field will be planned so that it will present an artistic appearance. The commercial and manufacturing district will be along the railroad, and the private hangars will be placed on the opposite side of the field.

"The field will have a fitting approach and probably some standard type of hangar required in order to maintain an appearance of beauty."

Aid to Water Supply

The membership of the City Council this morning stated that the airplane field was purchased largely at the instigation of Peter Diederich, city superintendent of light and water works.

In his request to the City Council that the land be purchased, Mr. Diederich reported that the city would eventually require more adequate facilities for its water supply, and in his opinion, the land taken over is ideal for this purpose.

He also explained that the proposed airplane port to be located on the tract will not in any wise interfere with any water projects that the city might desire to establish on the land.

Water reservoirs and other water facilities can be assembled on the tract at any time without conflicting with the airplane station, he declared.

Further, he points out, that while the water accommodations on the property remain undeveloped, the city will be receiving large revenues from the various airplane interests.

MYSTERY IN MAN'S DEATH

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Dec. 12.—Both murder and suicide theories were investigated today by San Pedro police following the death of Henry Day, 55, owner and master of the fishing boat Reliance, who was found dead in the cabin of the craft last night with a gunshot wound in his head.

A shotgun was found a short distance from the body. Day was last seen alive yesterday morning when he ate breakfast.

UNEMPLOYED ARE EJECTED

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Fifty unemployed, singing "the red flag," forced their way into parliament building this afternoon in an effort to make a demonstration in the house of commons, but were ejected by the police.

Chicago Is Swept by Cold Blizzard

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Chicago, hit by the tail of a blizzard sweeping the northwest, today was experiencing the coldest weather of the season. At seven o'clock this morning the mercury had fallen to seven degrees above zero.

The blizzard, which swept in from Canada, through the northern part of Montana, North Dakota and Wisconsin, is moving eastward faster than usual, according to reports today.

In the Great Lakes region the mercury has been dropping steadily the last twenty-four hours.
